Inglewood Set As Headquarter For Heart Drive

Residents of Torrance, Redondo Beach, and the South Bay communities preparing for the 1961 Heart Fund drive against heart disease will have their headquarters in Inglewood, according to Andrew W. Rose, Los Angeles County Heart campaign chairman. The Heart office space was donated by Allen K. Jonas, and is located at 124 South Locust Ave. THE ANNUAL Heart Fund campaign will be conducted in February, with kickoff collections during "Business-Invests-In-Heart-Days," Feb. 1-10 and the eighth annual residential drive on Heart Sunday week end, Feb. 23-26. Alberto Meneses has been appointed regional coordinator. Meneses, for 25 years an attorney in the Republic of Cuba, represented American business firms.

CHAIRMAN Rose pointed out that Heart Fund dollars support heart research and community programs of education throughout the year. "During the past 12 years and 'right now,'" Rose said, "cardiovascular research has been responsible for great progress in saving damaged hearts and protecting healthy ones." Residents interested in volunteering their time in the conquest of heart disease, are invited to call the Heart regional office at ORegon 8-9907.
