Naval Air Group Senior Artists To Make 14-Day Training Flight To Show Work In White House

Are you interested in flying to Paris, Newfoundland, Madrid, Naples, Gibraltar, Rome, or Istanbul? If your answer is "Yes," you had better "stow away" with the Naval Air Reserve at Naval Air Station, Los Alamitos. One of its air transport squadrons is leaving on Jan. 9 for its annual 14-day training period in Europe and North Africa.

Artistic work in ceramic sculpture, oil and watercolor paintings created by the elder citizens of El Camino College will be on display in Washington, D.C. during the White House Conference on Aging from Jan. 9-13.

Selection of the exhibit, expected to be viewed by more than 10,000 visitors, was announced by the office of Arthur H. Tryon, executive director of the Los Angeles County Committee on Aging.

AIR TRANSPORT Squadron VR 774, will fly its three four engine Douglas transports from Los Alamitos across the Atlantic to Port Lyautey, Morocco. Two days later it will join up with a regular Navy transport outfit and help with the back-breaking job of flying supplies to U.S. forces throughout the area.

A total of 85 Naval Reserve personnel will be involved in the operation. VR-774 is under the command of Commander George J. Sheridan, USNR, 7912 Poinsettia Dr., Buena Park, an inspector for the Federal Aeronautics Authority in civilian life. Virtually every local civilian occupation is represented within the ranks of VR-774.

A PREVIOUS showing of creative art was held in the rotunda of the City Hall of Los Angeles and was prepared by Joe Gadden, El Camino art instructor and Arthur Riggs, staff consultant to the Senior Citizens Service Center.

"This work was so outstandingly representative," Riggs said, "that El Camino will be the only school from the Southern California area to be represented."

JOINING FORCES with VR-24, a "regular" U. S. Navy air transport squadron at Port Lyautey, VR-774 will operate on strict timetables, flying cargo and passengers. Training will be rigorous and realistic, according to Cdr. Sheridan.

All available space in the planes will be utilized for carrying gifts for the people of Morocco, one of the poorest of countries.

CARGO SPACES will be jammed with text books, athletic equipment, and thousands of ball point pens donated by a local manufacturer. The supplies, to be presented in the name of the people of Southern California, are consigned to the Royal Palace at Rabat. They will be accepted by King Mohammed V.

The newest of the four air transport squadrons of NAS Los Alamitos, VR-774 won the Moroccan tour through a splendid record of training. Its planes have touched down in Panama, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Alaska, and at major cities throughout the U.S.
