Students Competing for Scholarships

Architecture students in junior colleges and colleges throughout Southern California are now preparing their entries for competition in the third annual F. S. Wade Scholarship, according to Georg Babbe, Southern California Gas Co. division manager. The $1000 scholarship awarded by the Southern California and Southern Counties Gas Co. is made available to students who have completed one or more years in a college or junior college located in territories of the two gas utilities. In addition, students from Bakersfield and Long Beach are eligible this year.

GIVEN FOR study in the School of Architecture at the University of Southern California, the Wade scholarship is awarded for the best original design submitted as a solution to a specific design problem. Babbe announced that this year's problem, which calls for an original family kitchen area employing specified gas equipment, limits total area to 40 square feet and is to include a kitchen, indoor breakfast area, outdoor breakfast area, outdoor dining area, and utility area with space for a laundry and gas air conditioner. Entries will be judged by a panel of four members of the American Institute of Architects and a representative of the gas companies.
