Then came the bride on the arm of her father. Her traditional gown was of white lace and silk organza. The lace bodice, with a round neckline and three-quarter sleeves, was attached to a full silk organza skirt. Her flowers were white roses and stephanotis encircling white orchids.

consider this little gesture one of solicitude. You'll never be able to stop Public Pluckers because by the time you've been victimized, it's too late to complain. I suggest you reduce your hostility by joining their ranks. The moment someone does this to you, respond by removing an imaginary speck from HIS shoulder.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter is a sophomore in high school. She is very much interested in biology. At present her class is studying the hookworm, tapeworm, flukes and other parasites. She flatly refuses to eat meat unless it is burned to a crisp. She says people get worms from eating under-cooked meat. Is this true? I have never heard of it. Please print your answer because she won't believe me if I tell her.—DISTRESSED MOTHER

Dear Mother: People can get sick from eating under-cooked meat only if the meat is infected. Government inspectors do an excellent job of protecting the public against sub-standard products. It is wise, however, to cook all meat fairly well — especially pork — but it need not be burned to a crisp.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experience of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How to Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Copyright, 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.
