Life-Saving Action by Principal Lauded With Red Cross Citation

"You wonder if the first aid techniques taught by Red Cross really work, you study hard, and once in a while you have very dramatic proof that they do," declares Thurman Winkle, principal of South Bay Community Christian School.

Winkle made this comment upon formal receipt of the

Daniel Murphy Cited For Scholastic Work

Daniel W. Murphy, 20029 Bernist St., has been cited for outstanding scholarship by Dean William L. Everitt of the University of Illinois College of Engineering. To qualify, students must maintain a scholastic average of 4.5 or better for his entire university work based on "A" equalling 5, "B" 4, and so on.

On March 17, 1890 the USS Constellation left New York with a cargo of food for famine sufferers in Ireland.

American Red Cross Certificate of Merit awarded to him in recognition for his action in saving the life of a 14-year-old student.

Eighth grader Grant Brooks, Hermosa Beach, lost consciousness Dec. 9, 1960, as a result of a schoolyard accident at the South Bay school.

His playmates were stunned at first, then called for help which came from Winkle. The school principal applied back pressure as recommended by Red Cross and continued first aid until ambulance attendants arrived.

DR. HARLAN B. Francis of Hermosa Beach, who cared for Grant at South Bay Hospital, gives full credit for saving the boy's life to the quick-thinking school administrator.

Winkle received his first aid certificate from Red Cross on Nov. 27, 1960 — just 12 days before he was called upon to practice the methods he was taught. YOUNG GRANT makes his home with his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Askins. Askins is employed by Aviation Service Co. Safety service classes of all types are offered to the community throughout the year by qualified Red Cross instructors. This is one of the services which are supported by contributions to the 1961 Red Cross fund campaign. "Any community that does not take advantage of the educational services offered by Red Cross is short-changing itself," declared Roger Plaisted, director of first aid and water safety for Los Angeles Chapter Red Cross, who presented the Certificate of Merit to Winkle.

State Urges Taxpayers to Check Forms

All California taxpayers who have not filed their 1960 income tax returns are urged by the Franchise Tax Board to glance at the return that has been mailed them earlier this year to see that it meets their tax requirements.

If you were mailed a short return Form 540A for reporting wages, dividends, or interest under $15,000, and you had other taxable income in 1960 such as gain from sale or rental of property, it is
