12-Day Hike Planned for Area Scouts

Twelve days of adventure in the sky-high back country of Philmont Scout Ranch are awaiting any Los Angeles Area Council Scout or Explorer who can qualify for the annual Centinela District Philmont Expedition.

Twenty places are left to be filled by Explorers or Scouts from any District. Three spots for leaders are also open.

The Expedition will be at Philmont from July 8-23.

The famous Scout ranch is a national camping area, near Cimarron, New Mexico.

SCOUTS AND Explorers who are not able to take the Centinela Expedition July 8-23, may register for Philmont at another time. The Ranch opens June 20. Last check in date is August 20. Each group must have its own adult leadership.

The Centinela Expedition life and streams, abound with game fish.

The Centinela Expedition is not a vacation, but a true test of camping skills.

Once out of the Base Camp area, Explorers do their own cooking and carry their own equipment with them on the trail.

Each group plans its own program, deciding where to go and how long to stay in each spot.

Philmont costs $95 per boy, which includes transportation, food and all insurance.

Participants must be registered Scouts, between 14 and 21 years old (as of July 1, 1961) and must be at least First Class Scouts.

A special patch and neckerchief has been designed for each expeditionary member.

Leaders are at the ratio of one adult for each 10 Explorers.
