General Telephone Puts Two In District Engineer Posts

C. A. Lowe, Redondo resident engineer, and C. A. Medici, Palos Verdes supervising equipment engineer for General Telephone Co., have been selected for the newly created district engineer position in their respective districts, according to Bernie Le Baron, Redondo division manager.

Another step in the company's reorganization plan in bringing the service responsibility closer to the customer's door, the newly created position at the local level will provide for design and cost of plant and equipment as well as its installation to be tailored to meet the particular requirements of residents in this area, Le Baron said.

IN 1959, under the leadership of L. E. Lattin, president, General Telephone underwent a complete reorganization designed to improve its operation and customer relationships. At that time, in explaining the company's new philosophy, Lattin said:

"What we are trying to do is put the full responsibility for the operation of a complete telephone business as close to the customer as possible and to depend upon the worthiness of our people to make it come out successfully." The new district engineer position is a continuing step in this direction.

LOWE, a native Angeleno, attended Fremont grammar school in Alhambra and Chaffey Union High School in Ontario. He later matriculated at San Bernardino Valley College.

Thoroughly grounded in telephone engineering, Lowe has held positions as trunk studies engineer, plant engineer, engineering supervisor, and resident engineer as well as his recent selection for the district engineer position.

MARRIED TO THE former Vivienne Louise Stewart, Lowe and his wife are the parents of two children; Curtis 7, and Cynthia 8. They reside in Los Angeles.

Another native Angeleno, Medici equally experienced in telephone engineering has held such positions as engineer - equipment, supervising engineer - equipment, and district engineer.

Medici attended Western Avenue grammar school and Manual Arts High School, both in Los Angeles.

A resident of Inglewood, Medici and his wife Ruth, live at 1122 South Eucalyptus Avenue, with their three children; Patricia 9, Mark 5, and Mary 3.

Taxpayers Group Opposing Tax-Supported Free Rides

Alarm was expressed today by S. J. Arnold, general manager of California Taxpayers' Assn., at news that Los Angeles School District administrators were proposing abandonment of the District's policy of charging a nominal $3 fee for selected adult education classes.

"If the Board of Education should yield to the pressure of adult education enthusiasts," Arnold said, "the taxpayers would receive a sharp defeat and a backward step would be taken."

COMMENTING on the allegation that adult education enrollments have decreased, Arnold said, "The prime objective of charging fees for selected adult education classes is to reduce the rolls by sorting out the trivially interested, recreation-minded, hobby-minded students from free, tax-supported classes. If enrollments have decreased, it is clear demonstration that the fee program has been a success."

As Cal-Tax has stated before, dissipation of tax money must be prevented if we are to continue maximum educational opportunities for our boys and girls. Competition for scarce tax dollars gives urgency to the charging of moderate fees for hobby and self-improvement classes.

AT NO TIME has the association urged the charging of fees for classes in Americanization and citizenship and in basic education classes in the Los Angeles schools.

Arnold indicated that further intensive study of the adult program will be made by the Association's staff and a statement will be presented to the Board of Education at the proper time.

Because of pressure from adult education supporters, Arnold urged interested taxpayers to write the members of the Board of Education in support of the fee program.

"Let's not have a return to tax-supported classes for free riders," Arnold said.

Southland Social Workers To Attend Heart Symposium

Social workers from more than 200 social agencies have been invited to attend the two-day Los Angeles County Heart Assn.'s symposium on "New Trends in Cardiovascular Disease" at the Union Oil Company Auditorium April 25-26, reported Dr. Willard J. Zinn, chairman of the association's Professional Education Committee.

The program was developed by the Social Work Committee of the Heart Assn. under the leadership of Selma Weber, MA, RSW, assistant director, Bureau of Medical Social Service, Los Angeles County Department of Charities.

PRINCIPAL speaker of the Symposium will be Dr. John R. Goldsmith, Public Health Medical Officer, Bureau of Chronic Diseases, California State Department of Public Health. Dr. Goldsmith, an internist, was formerly a Project Director of the Cardiovascular Section of the Framingham study group in Massachusetts.

Dr. Zinn indicated the primary purpose of the symposium will be "to upgrade the care provided to clients with heart diseases." The problem has become increasingly recurrent in social work activity.

ACCOUNTING for over half the deaths recorded in the county, heart diseases have proved an important factor in the nature of the services rendered by the community's many social workers. According to the County Welfare Department, statistically, 18 per cent of the incapacity cases of the welfare Aid to Needy Children involve heart disease, 65 per cent in Old Age Security and 19 per cent in Aid to Totally Disabled Persons, to list a few.

The Los Angeles County Heart Assn. Symposium will include audio-visual aids and the award winning film "Second Chance" that relates the story of how a 63-year old fireman won his battle with his heart. The symposium starts at 9 a.m. and continues to 4 p.m. A registration fee of $2 is requested.
