YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

"Dollar Signs On Your Eyeballs"

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going steady with Rick for eight months. For my birthday he gave me a $3 bracelet. For his birthday I gave him a bill fold which cost $3.50 and I spent an extra $2 to put my picture in it.

For Christmas he gave me a framed portrait of himself which he said cost $6. (I think it was less). I gave him a pair of gloves which cost $7.

On Valentine's Day he gave me a box of candy which I found out sold for $2. I was very disappointed as I bought him a $5 key chain.

After thinking it over it seems that I must like him more than he likes me. Do you agree? Please help me see things clearly. — CORA

Dear Cora: How do you expect to see anything with those dollar-signs on your eyeballs? Do you have a bookkeeper or do you do all this yourself?

Dear Ann: A widower nearly 60 has been attentive to me for over a year. I care a great deal for him.

He hasn't told me yet but I've heard from others that he would like to marry me but his children are against it. They don't object to me as a person. They just don't want me to come into any of their father's estate if he should die before I do.

I have a nice income of my own and don't need this man's money. I'd be perfectly willing to sign a pre-marital agreement which would leave everything to his children. All I want is his love and companionship.

How can I tell him so without appearing to be rushing him into marriage? — PRE-DICAMENT

Dear Pre-Dicament: Unless you speak another language fluently tell him in English. If he's interested in your
