New Fashions From France At Broadway

Original French designer fashions have just arrived at The Regency Room of The Broadway Del Amo. Designed and created on France's famed Cote d'Azur, these imported summer cottons are as gay and elegant as the Riviera itself.

Each dress in The Broadway's new collection bears a "Made in France" label, signifying the hand workmanship and excellent detailing for which the French are so famous. The styles are simple, yet subtle — bared perfectly for the sunny southern California climate which is so much like that of southern France.

Vivid floral patterns bloom on many of the dresses, which will be on sale in The Regency Room starting Monday, April 11. The prices are moderate, making it possible for every fashion-conscious woman to own an imported designer fashion that comes straight from the fashion center of the world.

Restaurant Goers

A tropical theme prevailed at various parties given at The Polynesian recently by Torrance restaurant-goers. Hosts and guests glimpsed in the exotic setting included Mr. and Mrs. George E. Skinner, Miss Linda Soriano, Miss Jeanne Shultz, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Heaton and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Olson.

Masonic Families Hear Talk on Oil Industry

"It's not packed for overnight, or for a weekend — it's packed for living" said Miss Tillie Jacobson as she revealed the secret of her Magic suitcase to members of the Torrance Masonic lodge and their families gathered at the Temple on Friday evening, April 1.

Miss Jacobson, who has been associated with the oil industry for a number of years through her work with Shell Chemical Corporation, went on to explain the refinery processes that transform crude oil into a host of products, such as cosmetics, miracle fibers, and gasoline, which play so vital a part in the life of every American woman.

Oil's versatility was vividly illustrated when Miss Jacobson reminded her audience that products of the same petroleum that turns the great wheels of American industry — it supplies about two-thirds of all the energy needed in the United States — can also turn a neat curl for a fashion-minded lady, and clothe her from head to toe.

Concluding her demonstration, Miss Jacobson said, "What magic will the Suitcase hold for the future? No prediction we can make today will measure up to the fabulous tomorrow that oil men will create for us. For there is no limitation to the imagination and ingenuity with which America's oil men and women compete to bring you better products, for a richer, healthier, happier life. Behind the magic of oil — the spirit that makes possible this competition to improve our modern living — is the American tradition of freedom. As long as our country's industries are free to vie with one another to serve the public better, all America's millions of magic suitcases — your and mine — will be full to bursting."

Preceding Miss Jacobson's talk, the annual family dinner was held. The guest speaker was presented by Mrs. John E. Miller, entertainment chairman.

... Ann Landers

Frank the gate. He sounds irresponsible.

Dear Ann: My mother has it in for a fellow I correspond with just because he writes cute things on the envelope. I think she is being very unfair to judge him by this one thing. She has never met the guy yet she tells me he is brainless. Why can't parents realize that things are different today than when they were growing up? When my mother was a young girl I'll bet the mail came by Pony express. Will you please set her straight before she ruins my life?—NAN.

Dear Nan: It is and always was in bad taste to write cute things on the outside of an envelope. Tell your boy friend to save the bright sayings for the letter — where he can probably use 'em.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)
