Violinists To Appear Philharmonic Unit Fetes New Members

Invitations have been issued to members of the Peninsula Committee for the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra to attend their annual program luncheon honoring new members on Thursday, May 4, at the Palos Verdes Estates home of Mayor and Mrs. H. F. B. Roessler.

Welcoming members and honorees will be Mrs. H. A. Garbanati, president of this active group of cultural-minded women who consistently strive to stimulate interest in symphonic music for the benefit of the community besides aiding in the support and maintenance of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra through their fund-raising activities.

Mrs. Edmund J. Rowan, salon program chairman, has arranged for the appearance of violinists Glenn, age 12, and Maurice, age 15, sons of Harold J. Dicterow, principal of the second violin section of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra. They will be accompanied by their mother, Irina, former concert pianist in her native Russia.

Maurice and Glenn have appeared jointly and separately at Schoenberg Hall, UCLA, Pasadena Museum, Westside Philharmonic Committee, North Hollywood High school, Dabney Hall, Cal Tech, the Annual Chamber Music Festivals, KCOP Channel 13, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce Music Festival. They have in their possession 14 awards for their appearances. Last year the boys were among the winners of the Board of Education competitions. In March, Glenn entered the Coleman competitions, as part of a trio, and won. Judges were Dr. John Vincent, Jasha Heifitz and Gregor Platigorsky. Upon completion of his studies here, Glenn has been offered a scholarship to the Conservatory of Moscow, by the Russian violin virtuoso, Leonid Hogan. At present both boys are studying with Erno Neufield.

Immediately following the 10 a.m. musicale, the annual business meeting is scheduled, including the election of officers.

Luncheon planned by Mrs. Andrew D. Shaw and Mrs. Lewis Ewing, hospitality chairmen, will climax the meeting. Deadline for reservations has been set for May 2.
