Two El Camino College Physics Instructors at Summer Institute

Two El Camino College physics instructors have received invitations to participate in the 1961 summer institute for junior college physics instructors at Western Michigan University, William T. Mooney Jr., assistant director of instruction at El Camino, announced today.

Invited to the institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, are Donald Joslin of Torrance and Jesse Platts of Gardena. The session held in Kalamazoo, Mich., will run from June 10 to July 28.

THE WESTERN Michigan program is designed to enrich subject matter background of physics teachers in two-year colleges. The program will be developed around three general areas: basic concepts of classical physics, principals of electricity, and electronics and fundamentals of atomic and nuclear physics.

Special attention will be given to conservation of energy and mass, conservation of momentum, conservation of charge, structure of the atom and molecular structure of matter, waves, and fields. Laboratory work will be featured as an aspect of the program. Outstanding physicists will deliver addresses, and field trips have been planned for the Kalamazoo program.

THIS IS THE second invitation which Joslin and Platts have received to participate in NSF programs.

Both previously participated in the UCLA Demonstration Experiments in Physics program taught by Julius Sumner Miller and Mrs. Margaret Lehman, of the El Camino College physics faculty. Joslin attended the 1957 UCLA program and Platts the 1958 program.

JOSLIN IS a graduate of Coe College and received his masters degree from the University of Iowa. He was an instructor of physics at Rapid City High School in South Dakota prior to coming to El Camino in 1958. Platts received his bachelors and masters degrees from California State Polytechnical College, San Louis Obispo, and taught high school physics for two years at Barstow High School prior to coming to El Camino College in 1959.

THE EASTERN Michigan institute is directed by Dr. Haym Kruglak, professor of physics at Western Michigan University. Dr. Kruglak has made many contributions to the field of physics education in the colleges of the country.

In addition to members of the physics faculty of Western Michigan University, Dr. Clifford N. Wall, professor of physics at the University of Minnesota, will be a member of the institute faculty.
