Gregory Named Salvation Army Fund Chairman

Edward Gregory, manager for the Southern California Gas Co. here, has been named Torrance chairman for the Salvation Army's $2,410,000 building campaign, according to an announcement by Louis Jenkins, Centinella Valley chairman for the drive.

Gregory indicated that he will soon determine his key committee people and then proceed with enlistment sufficient for coverage of the Torrance wing of the campaign.

THE EFFORT is aimed at financing a new construction and remodeling at Booth Memorial Hospital, which each year cares for 500 unmarried mothers and their babies; at Camp Mt. Crags where 2,000 needy Southland children camp each year, for the Harbor Light Center which daily cares for 300 to 400 alcoholics, aiming to rehabilitate them for useful lives; and for several community centers.

Now in its 76th year in our area, The Salvation Army also serves through thirty-two extension units, an emergency home for women and children, missing persons bureau, a day nursery, Men's Social Service Centers in five locations, youth centers, stand-by service during fires, floods and other disasters, and USO facilities.

"HELPING the Salvation Army by giving it the tools needed to function efficiently is one of the best investments we could make," said Gregory. "Through its work with the less fortunate," he continued, "The Salvation Army actually takes present and potential loads off the taxpayer and in many instances turns these people into taxpayers themselves."

Cancer Society Offers Envelops For Memorials

As an added service for local residents who want to make contributions to the American Cancer Society in memory of friends or relatives, the local district office is offering special gift envelopes.

The envelopes incorporate a printed form on which all necessary information concerning the memorial can be recorded at the time the gift is made.

JAMES J. WEIGEL, Manager of Torrance Security-First National Bank, and Volunteer Crusade Chairman of the district, said that the envelopes will be mailed to anyone who calls the Society at OR 2-8148. They may also write to the American Cancer Society office, 840 E. Manchester Blvd., Inglewood.

"Many people have told us that they like to keep one of these envelopes on hand," he said. "They are simple to fill out and assure the donor that his instructions will be accurately followed. Memorial notifications are sent out the day the information reaches our office."

THE MONEY is used in support of research, education, and service activities carried out by the Society on a national scale.

The practice of making memorial contributions is growing every year, Weigel said.
