Gas Refrigerators Have Place In Balanced Power Homes Today

Value of the recently introduced balance power concept for Southern California homebuyers and builders is being re-emphasized in the current marketing of the new gas refrigerators for 1961. It was pointed out this week by gas industry officials. Fulfilling the balanced power concept that every household job is handled by the energy source that does it best, the new gas refrigerators provide fast, efficient refrigeration with utmost economy, according to G. M. Babbe, division manager of the Southern California Gas Co.

FEATURING a new "square look," gas refrigerators for 1961 are designed to match the requirement for a trim, slim appliance "that will meet performance and appearance qualifications demanded by Southland homemakers," Babbe said. He also noted that in addition to the "square look" design which further increases ease of building the refrigerator into the kitchen along with built-in gas ranges and ovens, the gas refrigerators include such features as quick chilling shelves for last minute preparation of chilled desserts and ice makers that supply ice automatically without trays.

Measles Keep Lead in City

Measles scored a 2-1 margin over the closest rival in the city's list of reportable diseases as of July 1, County Health Department compilations showed this week.

With two cases reported during the final week in June, measles beat out all other diseases reporting only a single case. These included amebiasis, epilepsy, scarlet fever, and syphilis.

On the Polio front, the County reported eight cases during the first six months of 1961 compared to 50 cases for the same period in 1960.
