PERFORMING SUNDAY . . . Two members of the Youth Symphony which will perform Sunday include Darlene Gray, freshman at South High, and Bruce Short, Howard Wood School eighth grader. The group, organized under the direction of James Van Dyck, director of the Torrance Area Youth Band, will feature about 75 young musicians Sunday. (Herald Photo)

Youth Symphony in Concert on Sunday

The Junior Youth Symphony, composed of junior and senior high school students of Torrance and the surrounding area, will present a concert at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 17, in the Aviation High School cafetorium, corner of Manhattan Beach Blvd., and Blossom Lane.

Orchestra numbers on the program will include "Marche Militaire Francaise," "Parade of the Tin Soldiers," "Tambourin Dance," "Sailors Hornpipe,' 'Hungarian Dance No. 5," "March Slave," and the "Hungarian Comedy" overture. Student soloists will include Ronnie Van Dyck, playing the Mozart Clarinet Concerto, Elbert Deffebach playing the Trumpeter's Lullaby, and a performance of the Bach double violin concerto played by violinists, Dennis Logan and Sharon Burkhardt. Walter Kennon is accompanist for the student soloists.

* * *

A SPECIAL feature of the concert will be the guest appearance of Victor Sazer, cellist. Sazer is a cello instructor in the southwest area. He is a former student of the Juilliard School of Music where he studied with Leonard Rose. He will perform the Adagio and Allegro from Corelli's "Sonata in D Minor" and "Playera" by Granados. He will be accompanied by Sidney Stafford, pianist, who is a resident and teacher in the area.

The Junior Symphony of 48 musicians, recently organized by the Torrance Youth Bands, will be conducted by William Heffernan and James Van Dyck. The program is free to the public.

College Faculty Members Speak at Math Gathering

Six El Camino faculty members spoke at Math-Science Weekend as 800 mathematics and science teachers from the Southern California area gathered in Santa Monica during the past week to discuss their professions.

Howard Abran, chemistry instructor, gave several demonstrations on the unusual properties and uses of glass. He demonstrated, for instance, that it can be used to conduct electricity, a noteworthy fact inasmuch as glass is usually considered a non-conductor.

Mrs. Geraldine Karpel, physics teacher, gave "Some Comments on the Teaching of Special Relativity," and told how this subject can be introduced at a high school level.

* * *

MARK JACOBS spoke on integrating physics into a physical science course.

Julius Sumner Miller demonstrated his singing tubes and melopipes in his talk on "Some Exciting Demonstrations in Physics."

Mrs. Margaret Lehman explained why a rolling ball which hits the hand in one spot stings while at another time it will not hurt in her talk on unusual and exciting problems in mechanics.

Both Mrs. Lehman and Miller presented demonstrations suitable for high school class presentations.

* * *

WILLIAM T. MOONEY JR., assistant director of instruction at the college, spoke on ideas for enriching the chemistry course.

Mrs. Lehman, ECC representative on the program and planning committee, pointed out that the meeting provided one of the few occasions when math and science teachers from all grade levels could assemble for the discussion of mutual problems.

* * *

SOME OF the subjects discussed by speakers from other schools were nuclear energy in the elementary school, the fossil history of man, simple machines and sound, new ideas in science toys for elementary schools, and the preparatoration of your scientists for college.

Mrs. Lehman, immediate past president of the American Assn. of Southern California, also addressed the general session in the introductory portion of the program.

The American Cancer Society recommends periodic health checkups as a means of guarding against cancer.

Garden Checklist

1. Some varieties of fruit trees are subject to leaf curl unless sprayed now and again in February. Your nurseryman can recommend a spray.

2. The cool season vegetable garden can be planted still; nurseries usually have small plants of leaf and heading vegetables for transplanting in your garden.

3. The new roses should be at all nurseries in time for Christmas. They make wonderful gifts. Combination gift certificate-gift cards are available at most nurseries.

4. The tall garden lilies should be planted now. Spring-blooming bulbs may still be set out if you can still find the bulbs.

5. Secure canes of climbing roses and the trunks of tree roses against possible trouble from strong winds this winter.
