Ann Landers

(Continued from Page 9) gether. One girl is a fast eater. She always finishes before everyone else and immediately lights up a cigarette. This actually makes me nauseated.

I have nothing against smoking, in fact I smoke myself, but there's something about cigarette smoke blown in my face while I'm eating that is very unappetizing.

I don't care for this girl and I have a hunch the feeling is mutual. Do you think I have the right to tell her off, or does she have the right to smoke while others are still eating?—N. S.

Dear N. S.: Lighting up while others are still eating is rude, but I suspect you dislike the girl more than the cigarette smoke. Her personality probably irritates you and if she didn't smoke while you were eating you'd find something else to criticize.

Why don't you eat with another group?

If alcohol is robbing you of someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Have you read Ann Landers' new book, "Since You Ask Me," available at all book stores at $3.50. Copyright 1962, Field Enterprises, Inc.
