Revels Bake, Coffee Shop Opening in Plaza Today

Revels Bake and Coffee Shop in Rolling Hills Plaza at Crenshaw Boulevard and Pacific Coast Highway is observing its grand opening today.

Owner and operator Tom Revel said his new business establishment features brick ovens which provide quality bakery goods. The store will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sundays.

Free balloons and cookies are being given to children today. The store features 3,000 square feet and a dining room in which customers may be served coffee, bakery goods and pizza.

Wedding and party cakes as well as bakery goods for other special occasions are available at Revels. The new store employs 12 persons, four of them bakers. "The brick ovens enable us to get away from the commercial type of baking," Revel said. "We are also featuring pizza to take out," he added.

Tom Revel and his brother, Angelo, have operated a bakery at the Southwood shopping center for the past five years. The Rolling Hills Plaza bakery is an expansion of their business.

Looking to the future, Revel said that possibly in about two years the expanding bakery chain might be extended to other Torrance areas and into Long Beach.

"Look... I said I had a quart!"

Relief Fraud Arrests Begin, to Be Continued

District Attorney William B. McKesson reported yesterday that the bureau of investigation of his office has arrested 25 people this past week for grand theft of welfare funds who have defrauded the County of over $20,000.

McKesson pointed out these arrests are the continuance of a major crackdown on charity chiselers and would involve some 200 additional anticipated arrests in the near future.

McKesson stressed that his office has increased the pace of cracking down on charity chiselers which would save the County of Los Angeles untold thousands of dollars. He pointed out that a nucleus of highly specialized investigators has been formed in the bureau of investigation to handle welfare frauds.

Asked how these frauds were perpetrated, McKesson replied, "In many devious ways," but that his office was wise to them all.

"For example," he said, "one welfare recipient was receiving aid from the County at the same time he was employed and drawing unemployment insurance. In another instance, one woman was receiving aid for children that were out of school and employed themselves. In another case, a woman was receiving welfare assistance for children who are living with their paternal grandparents and the mother was collecting aid and not contributing to their support at the grandparents' home."

McKesson said he could go on and on giving different examples but that it added up to the same thing — people who were attempting to defraud their government.

McKesson pointed out that in defrauding their government, charity chiselers can and probably will go to jail for such actions; that his office is doing everything in its power to prevent these people from defrauding the County; and that the fact that his office was aware of the many tricks attempted by charity chiselers to defraud the County would make such action on their part foolish and stupid.

The signature of Button Gwinnett, one of Georgia's three signers of the Declaration of Independence, is now worth considerably more to autograph collectors than is George Washington's.
