The Riviera Homeowners Assn. met Monday evening at 8 p.m. at Parkway School.

Principal speaker of the evening was Charles Hillinger, feature writer of the L. A. Times, who told about the experiences of the colonists on the Galapagos Islands off the coast of Ecuador. The colony was started several years ago by a group of adventurous Seattle families with a desire to get away from the work-a-day world. The story was

The meeting also featured a "Welcome Neighbor" program with new members from Palos Verdes Riviera being welcomed into the association.

A MASTER PLAN for El Retiro Park was presented by Jim Gullett and approved by a majority of homeowner members at Monday's meeting. In the plan, the Youth Center building to be constructed by the Hollywood Riviera Rotary Club is located next to existing buildings in the northeast section of the park.

The committee report also suggested minor landscaping items, extension of present sidewalks in the park, improved lighting, clearing of ruts, and improving the children's play area.

THE FIRST book of Hollywood Riviera resident, Mrs. Buelah Taylor, 128 Via Sega, is now on the market and a number of autograph parties are being scheduled in the area.

The book, written especially for children, is called, "Nickie and Sue—Two Lovable Parakeets," and is the true story of the adventures of the two birds. Mrs. Taylor and the book's illustrator, Mrs. Guerin Robinson, teach second grade at Williams School in Hawthorne. "Nickie" attended school there for a whole year. His fabulous vocabulary includes several hundred words and phrases, and in the book "Nickie" does the narrating.

The publishers, Pageant Press, New York, are being swamped with orders from book stores, schools, and libraries. The book is available at all of the major department stores and at the Shorebird in P.V. The little three-ounce bit of bird life has captured the hearts of local children.
