

VITAL ROLE . . . Mary Ann Tarwater, center, a South High student, shows a Cerebral Palsy fund raising kit to Bishop Montgomery High students Christine, left, and Teresa Sargent. The girls were among teenagers filling a vital role as supplementary block-workers in the CP door-to-door campaign. (Herald Photo)

Stay Home With Your Children; They Need You

Someone suggested that every married woman with one or more children should be refused employment by State law. Every state.

It was his contention that this would enable men to get better jobs due to more openings, and the woman, being at home, would be able to spend more time with her children and husband.

As he wrote: "Not spending enough time at home is something that most divorced couples find was their trouble. They had no time together getting to know each other. This time would enable her to encourage her man to better himself. Encouragement and trust are what most men need for success."

I defy any woman who has a family and works to prove to me you are getting more out of your life by working than you would by staying at home where you belong.

You moan, "But we need the money." For what, pray? The more you make the more you spend. Can you say truthfully that you have put all of your salary into the bank; that you have saved it for a specific purpose like a luxurious holiday together? That you have a housekeeper or maid who does your cooking and serving? No, you can't. Then why work?

I watch you at the rush hours in the evening, running wildly to your transportation, dashing into a neighborhood supermarket, then at home whipping up something unpalatable and unsightly for him to eat, and later too tired to clean up your mess.

You women are not cut out to work and keep homes going. You write me it is his idea that you do so. Perhaps. But if you let yourself get fired you could stay home, cook properly and make yourself more presentable.

Eventually he would like the whole idea. So would all the other men. Try it and see. Be sure to give two weeks' notice, though. But hurry before it's too late.

DECLARING WAR . . . Community leaders called together by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn (standing) adopted five-point plan to curb juvenile violence which has rocked the Southwest in recent weeks. Among those attending the session were (from left) Mayor Ralph Dorsey of Manhattan Beach, Presiding Judge Breitenback of Juvenile Court, Mayor Raymond Creal of Hawthorne, Mayor Thomas Thorp of Lawndale, Mayor Del Clawson of Compton, and Mayor Pete Jensen of Gardena.

Manager Selected By Bank

William H. Martens has been named manager of the Bank of America's Main and Carson branch.

He is replacing R. E. Ogle who has been selected for an intensive training program with the bank's International Banking Office. Following completion of the program, he may be assigned to one of the bank's overseas positions.

WILLIAM H. MARTENS . . . Bank Manager

In 1957, he began working with a half dozen others on programming the electronic bookkeeping system that would soon be regularly processing more than two and a half million of the bank's commercial checking accounts, ERMA. He was appointed assistant manager of the Berkeley ERMA Center when it opened in 1960.

BORN IN San Francisco, Martens graduated from high school in Berkeley and has since earned a certificate from the American Institute of Banking, educational wing of the American Bankers Assn.

He and his wife, Hilda, have five children: Bill, 10; Sheryl, 7; Tom, 6; Mike, 3; and Susan, one month.

Legislative Counsel Employed by Solons

By CHARLES E. CHAPEL Assemblyman, 46th District
The legislative counsel is A. C. Morrison, who was formerly chief deputy legislative counsel and has had many years of legal experience. His main office is in the State Capitol and he has a branch office in the State Building, Los Angeles.

His principal duty is to provide legal assistance to members of the legislature and other state officials in the drafting and amending of legislative measures, and advising them as to the constitutionality or legal efficacy of proposed or pending measures.

The legislative counsel is elected by the legislature by concurrent resolution at the beginning of each regular, long session, which starts on the first Monday in January of each odd-numbered year. He is chosen entirely on the basis of ability and without regard to political affiliation.

IN THEORY, he is only one man, but in practice he has a large staff of men and women who are extremely able lawyers. They do the initial work, which is then checked by a lawyer other than the one who prepared the first draft and finally the legislative counsel, himself, reads and approves the document.

The opinions of the legislative counsel are not available to the public because if this were the case he would be so busy that he would have no time to work for the legislature. However, whenever any of my constituents want an opinion from the legislative counsel and it is not something which he can and should obtain from a lawyer in private practice, I send the constituent's letter to the legislative counsel, who then sends an answer direct to the constituent and a copy to me.

The answer is treated as confidential by the legislative counsel and by me unless the constituent tells me he wants it quoted in the newspapers.

THIS IS ONE of the many services rendered by the legislative counsel and it must not be abused, hence I emphasize that a person should consult a lawyer of his own choice before asking me to obtain a legislative counsel's opinion.

Most of the requests which I send to the legislative counsel for analysis and a statement of opinion come from city and county officials who want to know if the legislative counsel agrees with their own official lawyers, such as city attorneys, the county counsel, etc.

The attorney general of the State of California also prepares opinions at the request of members of the legislature, but his opinions are often released to the newspapers; they are printed in "Official Advance Sheets" and distributed by Hanna Legal Publications, Albany, Calif.; and eventually they are printed in bound volumes by the State Printing Office which sells them to anyone who pays the price.

THEREFORE, opinions of the attorney general are not confidential, as are those of the legislative counsel, and they become public property, often to the embarrassment of those originally requesting them.

The officials of one city in the 46th Assembly District insisted that I obtain an opinion from the attorney general regarding a matter which involved several hundred thousand dollars.

I recommended that they let me first obtain an opinion from the legislative counsel and then if that was favorable, we could ask for an opinion from the attorney general, but the city officials said that they wanted the opinion from the attorney general right away, forthwith.

I SENT the request to the attorney general, his opinion was unfavorable to the city, he released the opinion to the newspapers before he sent it to me or to the city officials, it was published in the Official Advance Sheets, and it was eventually printed and bound by the State Printing Plant.

Although the opinion of the attorney general has a very limited value in a court of law, it does have persuasive and argumentative effect, hence the city which obtained the adverse opinion is now convinced that they should have asked for an opinion from the legislative counsel first, as I had recommended.

THROUGHOUT my nearly 12 years in the legislature, I have consistently recommended that each city try to solve its own problems in its own way and go to the state or to the United States government only as a last resort.

When the State of California or the United States gives or loans money to a city or county, there are strings attached. Furthermore, the money from the state or the United States comes out of the pockets of the taxpayers. It is not something free from Heaven!

NEW—FOR BUSINESSMEN

BUFFET LUNCHEON

now served daily from noon 'til two

Special daily menu includes two hot entrees and a selection of five cold salads with beverage. $1.75

FASTER SERVICE — SAVES YOUR TIME

Plush Horse Inn
1700 SOUTH PACIFIC COAST HIGHWAY
REDONDO BEACH FRONTIER 8-6222

SCHOOL'S OUT

Sale

Let's go to SCOTS

3-DAY SPECIAL

Swit's Premium Hamburger

Regularly 23¢ 12¢

JUNE 18, 19, 20

MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

TOP QUALITY NAME BRANDS
Bell Brand Potatoes • Arden Dairy Products
Heinz Catsup • Langendorf Buns
Kraft Cheese • Eng-Skell Syrup

SERVED AT PIGGY BANK PRICES!

SCOT'S — SOUTH BAY

SOUTH BAY SHOPPING CENTER
174th & Hawthorne Blvd.
REDONDO BEACH

Open 8:30 A.M. to 10:00 P.M.

More Advertisers Use the HERALD Than Any Other Torrance Newspaper!
FAirfax 8-4000

What will your life be like in the all-electric future?

Electrically produced ultrasonic waves will dry-clean your clothes instantly, right in your closet. You will make a cake or saw wood with cordless appliances...shop by two-way TV-telephone. These new ideas in modern living depend on electricity. And they are only the beginning of the wonderful things to come.

The electric industry, of course, continues to lead in the research to find new ways to use and produce electricity. And logically so. Electricity is our business.

WE HAVE ALREADY PRODUCED IT a number of new and different ways, involving the use of the fuel cells, nuclear energy, thermionic conversion and magnetohydrodynamics.

Whatever the source, electrical energy is limitless, and Southern California Edison will continue to bring you an abundant, dependable supply at the lowest possible rates.

