

Residents Join Fire Department

Three area residents have received appointments to the Los Angeles City Fire Department, following intensive training courses at the department's drill tower in North Hollywood.

The three are Arley V. Tracy, 137 W. 214th St.; Terry D. Morgan, 23732 Eshelman Ave.; and Rodney C. Hoeltzel, 25841 Walnut St., Lomita.

The training courses emphasized basic fire fighting procedures, fire control in high value municipal areas, fire apparatus operations, and various methods of arson detection and fire prevention.

Hoeltzel is a 1953 graduate of Jackson High School in Jacksonville, Fla. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hoeltzel reside in Jacksonville.

Morgan is a 1957 graduate of Torrance High School. Tracy attended George Washington High School.

Harbor JC Features Folk Songs

Marais and Miranda, international balladeers, will appear in a program at Harbor College Thursday, July 26, at 8:30 p.m. The program is part of the summer activity series on the Wilmington campus.

The famous husband and wife team will present a program of folk songs and ballads. The duo comes direct from an engagement at the Hollywood Bowl.

The evening entertainment is free to ASO card holders and their guests under 12. Others will be charged a 50-cent admission fee.

Volunteer Cast Opens Trial Drama

Ernest Moyles, of Inglewood, is currently producing and directing the "Shake Hands with the Devil" for presentation to local civic organizations as a community service.

"Shake Hands with the Devil" is a dramatic reenactment of the famous Communist trials in New York in 1948. It is designed to rouse the watcher from apathy and lethargy that is so prevalent in regard to the Communist menace, according to Moyles.

A cast of 25 volunteer actors has been assembled for the production. It will be presented first at the Inglewood Moose Lodge, 645 W. Arbor Vitae St., Friday, July 27. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. A repeat performance is slated for Saturday, July 28.

Moyles said other civic organizations have asked for an opportunity to sponsor the play in coming weeks.

Original Oils Displayed Here

A selection of works by artists affiliated with Gallery tzpl forms the current exhibit at Glendale Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Torrance office.

The collection of original oils will be on display at the office, 3832 Sepulveda Blvd., through August. Works by the same artists may be seen at the gallery in Walteria.

SUNDAY AT CAMP ROBERTS . . . Capt. Joseph M. Perkarek, Catholic Chaplain with the 63rd Infantry Division, celebrates Holy Mass with two officers in the division serving as altar "boys." The services were held during two weeks of training at Camp Robert for the reserve group. Father Perkarek is the principal of Bishop Montgomery High School in civilian life. The altar boys are Lt. Col. James Dunham, deputy commander of the division, and Lt. Col. Richard Hayden, commanding officer of the 363rd Medical Battalion. Dunham resides in Rolling Hills; Hayden in Garden Grove.

TORRANCE CHAIRMAN . . . David K. Lyman (left) has been appointed chairman of the Torrance Committee to Re-Elect Alan Cranston as State Controller. Shown here with Lyman are Mrs. Lyman and Cranston. Leo Salisbury will serve as vice-chairman, while Mrs. Lyman is secretary for the committee. Persons interested in aiding with the campaign are asked to call Lyman.

Toastmasters Debate Ban On Prayers

Toastmasters of the South Bay devoted their last meeting to a debate on the recent ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court banning prayers in the classroom.

The debate began with a motion to eliminate the usual invocation at the start of the meeting. Following the discussion, the motion was defeated.

DON PAYNE presided over the informal portion of the meeting. Such subjects as Benny Goodman's trip to Russia, Telstar's contribution to private enterprise, and the question of saluting the flag were discussed.

Tom Ritchie took the prize for the informal part of the discussion.

FORMAL speaking prize was won by Dr. Charles Hopkins with a speech entitled "Give Me My Franchise."

EARLY JUDGING . . . Miss Chamber of Commerce, Vicki Reed, acts as judge for a preliminary test of a trio of contestants in the beard growing contest. The contestants, each hoping to cop the grand prize for the best beard during annual Ranchero Days, Aug. 1-5, celebration are Silviano Reyes, Clyde Fryar, and Dale Pickett.

Writers Get Extension On Deadline in Contest

Prospective entrants in the San Pedro Writers Guild contest were notified yesterday that the deadline for entries has been extended to Aug. 8. Winners will be announced at the Guild's anniversary tea Sept. 23.

Four divisions have been established for this year's contest. They are short story, article, poetry, and light verse. First prizes will be $15 for each division.

SHORT STORIES are limited

THE TORRANCE HERALD

Don't Blame Children For Your Failure

by Count Marco

"What does the American male want?" asks a European woman. She sounds too intelligent to be bitter, but what comes out of her pen is not exactly sweetening, either.

She says my comparing you to Oriental and European women is not realistic. "Women are women no matter what part of the world they come from," she wrote. "Where they differ sharply is what their men make of them."

She proceeds to say that European men inspire their women to be exciting, glamorous and reacting. She thinks, though, that American men aren't men enough to make you feel or act like a woman.

"The American male," she complains, "wants something for nothing. He demands for a wife a model, a glamour girl with not a hair out of place, never showing marks of work, never tired, always charming, entertaining, not too much intellect, or at least not showing it if she has it.

"She must coddle him like a child, be his mother, his sister, his nurse, his wife, the mother of his children, his adviser.

"If she is not the girl stepping out of a magazine because the children, his children, are underfoot, and she is tired, hot, depressed, he becomes irritable, ill-tempered, feels sorry for himself, is thoroughly disagreeable.

"He is surprised when the children are put away for the night that she is in no mood to be affectionate and loving. All the wife wants is rest," she concludes with firmness.

That's a woman? If you know so well what the American male expects from a wife and give him a sad substitute instead, how can you possibly say he is at fault?

No man, European, American or other, can make you feel like a woman if you just don't have it, if you are always blaming your lack of interest in femininity on those poor children of yours.

Look like a woman at all times, act like a woman at all times and be a woman at all times. Don't worry about him; he'll react and act like a man. It is you who must inspire him to desire something else, not he who must do all the work.

After all, it was Eve who led with the apple when Adam had been satisfied with figs for who knows how long. And we all know how HE reacted.
