ATTEND TRAINING SESSIONS... Two local executives were among the 100 Naval Reserve Officers to attend a two-week training session at the Naval War College in Newport, R. I. The two are Cmdr. G. M. Babbe, manager of the Southern California Gas Co. Inglewood office, and Cmdr. Edward Givens, Glendale Federal Savings and Loan Assn.

Two Attend Workshop to Add Classes To Schedule

Directors of the Bay Cities Civic Theater Assn. revealed changes in the Lollipop theater workshop for children yesterday. The changes were due to an unexpected surge in the enrollment. Classes originally slated for Saturdays only will now be held five days each week. The Lollipop Theater is for children and teen-agers. It is located at 1560 Manhattan Beach Blvd. Classes for children five to eight years of age are scheduled for 9 to 10:30 a.m.; the nine to 12 age bracket, 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; and the 13 and up bracket, 2 to 3:30 p.m. The fee for the classes is $2 per month for each child.

RESERVE officers selected for this special training hold the rank of Commander or higher, and would be given important military assignments in the event of military mobilization. Another local officer, Cmdr. Edward Givens, attended the event with Babbe. Givens is a Glendale Federal Savings and Loan executive. First week of the two-week course was devoted to bringing the officers up to date on latest developments in the field of naval warfare and counterinsurgency, and procedures for national security.

THROUGHOUT the second week, officers joined with leaders from many spheres of American life, to discuss global strategy aimed at attaining national objectives. Lecturers
