Why Pay Failures For the Failure?

By Count Marco

In a country in which you women raise your voices in wails and complaints that you will never be subservient or a slave to a man, how is it that you collect alimony?

If being paid for services not rendered isn't subservient then what is it?

In my recent travels I have been pleased to note that several states think highly enough of their women to prohibit over-the-counter payments to those of you no longer rendering services for which you originally contracted.

This is a great contribution to saving the pride of the American woman. The courts do, however, allow child support, which is as it should be if the mother is foolish enough to ask for child custody.

Alimony is a disease created for women, by the women and of the women. It surprises me that a country as advanced as this, a country that was the first to abolish debtors' prison by creating bankruptcy laws, is a country that has now revived the debtors' prison.

Only recently I read of a man who was placed in jail because of non-payment of alimony, yet he had pleaded not guilty because he was unemployed. Is that not a debtors' prison? If it isn't, I don't know what is.

Real women don't have divorces. Only unreasonable facsimiles of unfemininity have them. So much publicity, for example, was given the divorce of a young woman who married a very wealthy man whose highly publicized hobby is extremely dangerous. But he is fond of it.

Yet, after one year, she sued because he wouldn't give up the sport. "Mental cruelty" she calls it. I agree—to him it's mental cruelty. She knew of his passion for this hobby before the marriage, and any female who can't be woman enough to compete with a hobby doesn't deserve a divorce, much less alimony.

It is this sort of thing that inspires your own daughters to become weaklings as wives and even weaker as ex-wives. If a woman gives up on a marriage after only one little year, it is she who should pay—even to the point of refunding the poor disillusioned man's fee for the license.

Save yourselves, girls! As long as you know you are going to be paid for being a miserable failure, you'll be one. I say to you. Repeat the divorce laws, make it impossible for a woman to collect, and each of you will try all the harder to make her marriage work.

Stop being the laughing stock of the world. Remember, slaves at least worked for their room and board, and that was honorable. But a divorcee who collects without giving full value, dollar for dollar, is merely a parasite. Now you don't want to be that, do you? I knew you wouldn't. So to the polls. Make your slogan: Repeat, repeat, repeat.

Institute On Youth Scheduled

The Rev. Maynard V. Midthun, pastor of Christ the King Lutheran Church, 2706 W. 182nd St., has been invited by the American Lutheran Church to attend the Research Institute on Youth in Minneapolis Oct. 1-4.

Along with four others from California, he will meet with several representatives from each of the 19 districts of The American Lutheran Church in the United States and Canada. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss, to research and to find new and more effective methods that the church might use in its work with teenagers.

The author of "The Vanishing Adolescent," Edgar Z. Friedenberg, will be one of the speakers, along with several others.

Communication Technique Authority Joins Magnavox

Dr. Charles R. Cahn, a well known authority on communication techniques and information theory, has joined the Magnavox Research Laboratories here as manager of the signal systems department. He is a graduate of Syracuse University where he received his PhD in electrical engineering in 1955. Dr. Cahn is a member of the Sigma Xi Honorary Society. He was elected this year as a member of the administrative committee of the professional group on information theory of the IRE.

As manager of the signal systems, Dr. Cahn will direct MRL's efforts in such fields as airborne and space communications, jam-resistant communications, and radar systems. He will report directly to James T. Smith, general manager of the Magnavox Research Laboratories. Dr. Cahn was previously with Thompson Ramo-Woolridge as staff engineer and prior to joining Magnavox he was senior scientist with the Bissett-Berman Corp.

Dr. Cahn, his wife, and two children make their home in Manhattan Beach.
