

SABIN ORAL POLIO CLINICS SET TODAY

Eleven clinics, all in city schools, will be utilized to inoculate thousands of Torrance area residents in the Sabin oral vaccine fight against polio from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m. today, according to the Los Angeles County Medical Assn., sponsors of the countywide program.

Dr. Paul J. Pabst, serving as chairman for the Southwest District, estimated yesterday that as many as 260,000 Southwest residents may get their first Type I vaccine in one of the area's clinics today.

Dr. Kurt Shery is chairman of the Torrance program, and he has reported that each of the 11 Torrance clinics will be manned by about 25 persons, and will be able to handle up to 10,000 persons during the seven-hour clinic. Two complete staffs will operate in shifts during the day.

Sabin will be given on sugar cubes. All a recipient has to do is pop one in his mouth.

A donation of 25 cents is being asked to cover vaccine and incidental expenses, but no one will be turned away for inability to pay.

Registration blanks have been made available throughout the city and copies of the form have been reproduced in The HERALD twice, making more than 50,000 copies available in the Torrance area in addition to those distributed otherwise.

If the family goes together, one blank will be sufficient with all the names on it. If the members take their Sabin separately, each one must have a registration form. Those who have registrations ready will be dispatched right through the vaccine lines.

TRAIN CRUSHES TWO AUTOS

Switch Train Hits Cars at City Crossing

One person received painful injuries and two others escaped hurts Friday night as a Southern Pacific switch engine with 16 cars backed across a Torrance intersection striking two cars.

Taken to an emergency clinic for treatment was Micklin Cooke, 17, of 5027 Halison, a passenger in a car driven by Rodella Fae Sankey, 17. The auto was registered to Jeanette Sankey, 5509 Clear-site.

A second car, driven by Donald Ray Downs, 24, was struck by the Sankey auto as it was pushed by the train at Border Avenue and Carson Street about 7:35 p.m. Friday.

The Sankey car received extensive damage and the Downs car was damaged. There was no damage to the train.

Police were told that both autos were traveling west on Carson Street and that the traffic control signal was green for them.

In another accident Friday, a 17-year-old West High student was taken to Little Company of Mary Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Richard Day Shook, 5326 Edgemere, who was driving northbound on Henrietta Avenue, and James Clarke, 68, of Palos Verde Estates, were involved when their cars collided at Henrietta and Lorna Drive. Clarke, a customs broker, was westbound on Lorna. He was not hurt.

Forty-four-year-old Edward Worthen was taken to a medical clinic for treatment following a two-car crash near Artesia Boulevard and Crenshaw Friday afternoon. Cars driven by Frank Emanuel Guinot, 74, of 17038 Ermanita, and Christine Patricia Worthen, 18, Gardena, collided.

Demos Told State Needs New School Every Day

"To keep faith with our youngsters," according to State Controller Alan Cranston, "we must build a new school almost every day and double the capacity of the University of California by 1970."

Cranston, Democratic candidate for re-election as California's chief financial officer, told a campaign dinner Wednesday in San Pedro "Let us welcome the challenges of the future with the vitality and confidence that have always characterized California."

The dinner was arranged by Glen Wymore, chairman of the Cranston re-election campaign in the South Bay area.

"We must stay ahead of our problems," Cranston said, "and believe in our goal—which is to keep California first in the United States."

"Junior colleges must multiply or burst as bigger and bigger high school graduating classes flow into them," Cranston said. "State college campuses must be created and expanded to keep our promise to provide free education to any capable California youth with the will to train himself for the future."

"As our population continues to expand in great leaps, we have no choice but to keep pace by providing additional schools and other facilities," Cranston told his audience.

"THE AMAZING fact is that we have been able to anticipate the demands of growth over the last four years while keeping the budget balanced each year," Cranston stated. "In fact, we have had tax reductions two years in a row with another tax cut pledged by Governor Brown in 1963."

"To finance the purchase of land and construction for these schools and colleges," Cranston pointed out, "the heaviest burden falls on state government while the benefits are primarily local—in your community where the schools are located and where your children are educated."

"More than half of our almost $3-billion state budget is not spent by state agencies," Cranston said. "Most of the money is transmitted to local government where it is used to build your schools, roads, hospitals and other community services."

"The CONTROLLER added that "to keep traffic jams from choking our growth and our spirit, we must build every week new miles of freeways, highways, streets and roads."

A Penny for your Thoughts

"Do you approve or think it's OK for women to wear hair curlers to the grocery store and other public places?" the Pennies inquirer asked shoppers.

Mrs. Varnell Ijames, 18925 Haas:

"No. Not if they can keep from it. It is much nicer not to. A hair-dryer is good to avoid going out with hair up. I think women look bad in curlers."

Miss Mary Morris, Wilmington:

"It depends on what you are doing. A quick trip to the store is ok. You don't have to get dressed up to go to the store. I don't think women should go downtown that way."

Mrs. Eldon Northrup, 22001 Ladeene:

"I have on occasion, but as a rule I don't. I don't think they should wear their hair up to the market. That's for the home. You never know who you are going to see."

Mrs. Larry Grisham, 1350 1/2 W. 225th St.:

"I don't like it but sometimes you can't help it. I don't think they should wear their hair up any place, but if you have to go to some place, then it's necessary to have the hair in curlers."

Mrs. William Cartwright, 4907 Sharynne:

"No. I hate it. I think if they would take a real good look at themselves in a mirror they wouldn't wear their hair up at the store. I think they are a little relaxed in that respect here in the Southwest area."

Debate Slated on Communist Party

Assemblyman Louis Francis (R., San Mateo) will appear in a public debate with Eason Monroe of the American Civil Liberties Union next week to defend his constitutional amendment to outlaw the Communist Party in California.

The question for debate is, "Should California Adopt Proposition 24?"

The debate will take place at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 26, at the Mira Costa High School Auditorium in Manhattan Beach.

Joe Dolan, local radio and television commentator will be the moderator and chairman for the evening.

FRANCIS, long known for his vigorous attacks on communism and subversion, is the chief author of the controversial "Louis Francis Amendment" which will appear on the Nov. 6 ballot as Proposition 24.

Eason Monroe, who will debate against Francis, is Executive Director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Southern California and former educator at the University of California and San Francisco State College.

PROPOSERS of Proposition 24, which include many patriotic and service organizations, argue that California is the prime target of the Communist Party and that strong and effective legislation outlawing communists and subversives must be enacted.

Those opposing the Francis Amendment contend that it would destroy legal protection of the innocent and would grant authority to a wide assortment of groups and individuals to designate subversives who would be subject to heavy penalties.

BOTH GOVERNOR Brown and Richard Nixon have opposed the Francis Amendment as having serious constitutional flaws; however, recent polls indicate that a majority of voters at present seem to favor the proposition.

Tickets for the public debate are $1 donation and may be obtained by mail from the Student Forum Foundation, 241 S. La Brea Ave., Inglewood. Further ticket information can be obtained by phoning OR 4-2090. Tickets will also be available at the auditorium box office starting at 7 p.m.

FREE LITERATURE concerning the "pros" and "cons" of Prop. 24 will be available in the auditorium lobby on the night of the debate.

A period for questions from the audience will follow the debate.

The program is sponsored by the Student Forum Foundation, a non-profit, non-political and non-partisan educational organization comprised entirely of college students.

THE PURPOSE of the Foundation is to provide the means whereby facts, ideas and opinions about issues of social significance may be presented

Bruinsma Suggests a Fishy Tribute to King

Ted Bruinsma, candidate for Congress from the 17th District, urged local residents to send their incumbent Congressman a fish, as a reminder of how they feel about him voting away $10 million in tax money for an aquarium in Washington, D.C. He suggested a sucker might be appropriate.

Pointing out that the nation's capital already has an aquarium, Bruinsma said the Congressman's vote will create a surplus of aquariums, "just as the Democrats have created a surplus in farm products and waste in government."

He pointed out that Americans are being asked to sacrifice, but that the incumbent failed to sacrifice a campaign contribution in exchange for his vote to support the boondoggle. Bruinsma said Rep. Mike Kirwan, sponsor of the "gold-plated fish tank," is chairman of the Congressional Committee and has charge of all the money the committee gives democratic candidates. He said Kirwan told Democrats to vote for his bill or he would cut off the $500 or so the committee gives them.

"My opponent," Bruinsma declared, "deserted the public interest to assure himself of a small campaign contribution." The candidate said he wants to go to Congress to represent the people, not to be a part of a machine such as his opponent proved he was by supporting the boondoggle fish tank bill.

He said a continuous flow of fish would be a graphic illustration by the people of this district that there was something "fishy" about the aquarium vote—and my opponent's voting record."
