

Youth 'Grows Up' in Boys Club; Joins Community Chest Campaign

As the Harbor Area Community Chest campaign entered that final — and crucial — phase, aptly called "clean-up," Fred Mill area campaign chairman, got an able assist from another Fred, Fred Olguin, aged 12, his staunch junior partner throughout the rugged campaign.

Young Fred, who as a star football and baseball player knows the value of teamwork and a good rooting section, brought in his whole family: Father Gus, mother Elsie, his two older brothers Tony and Leonard and sister Debbie to show the world in general and Harbor Area givers in particular — what a Community Chest "family" can mean.

For everyone of the Olguins, each in his own way, is a living example of what just one of the Chest's 155 services can produce. The Olguins in many respects, individually and collectively, are "products" of the San Pedro Boys' Club, and shining examples of same.

FRED, THE younger, junior Chest campaign chariman, has been a Boys' Club member since he was "two months before eight." This very fact reflects the wise leadership of the club. Fred was admitted ahead of time by virtue of a proud Boys' Club heritage — and the convincing urgency of a younger brother's need.

Both Tony and Leonard — and the father himself as a charter member of the Boys' Club which he joined in 1937 when quarters were in a tiny shack at Seventh and Grand Streets — as longtime "belongers" knew how important it was to be "in." FRED UPHELD the family tradition from the start. This year he was captain of a club touch football team which played in the Intermural Boys' Club League. He's a member of the Boys' Club tackle football team and was catcher and outfielder in the Mid-Town Meet of the Western Boys Baseball Assn. Besides, he plays basketball, learns crafts, plays indoor games as do others of the average of 800 boys who yearly — since 1937 — have belonged.

Fred, like the rest of his family, is not just a "taker." He's a "giver," too, his club mates and club leaders say. No Boy's Club job is too tough for him, Raymond Martinez, physical ed director in charge of the club's program, said. The Olguins' neighbor, Mrs. DeLon Phenneger, secretary of the club, chimed in to add, "when he's not talking or playing football, he's talking and selling Boys' Club to his playmates and schoolmates at the Leland Street School where he's an A-6 pupil. He thinks they are out of their minds if they don't belong." GUS OLGUIN, member of the relief crew that takes over Richfield Oil Corp. ships at the landing docks, is a Boys' Club giver, too, often giving, says Director Nick Trani, "of time he doesn't have." He mans the public address system of the club station wagon as it drums up trade for auxiliary fund-raising events, prints signs or whatever comes to hand to do. Elsie Olguin is president of the Mothers' Club and with other mothers is an ardent Community Chest worker. Sister Debbie wants it known she's a Community Chest "contributor." She saves and saves and this year her Red Feather gift at her school was a good one, "for the little boy on the poster," she said.

"Sharing is a two-way street," Mrs. Olguin explains. "WE WHO know the Boys' Club and its work, appreciate the $28,272 that was allocated to the Club from Community Chest last year. We know our club's needs and realize that 154 other services, equally worthy, must be supported too." Young Fred, campaign junior partner, puts it this way: "We know the goal. Let's go!"
