The Rev. Gordon Christiansen, missionary to the Congo, will be the featured speaker at the 7 o'clock Sunday evening service.

Special music will be furnished at each of these services and the public is cordially invited to attend.

With each returning year, higher joys, holier aims, a purer peace, and diviner energy, should freshen the fragrance of being. — Mary Baker Eddy.

Methodists Plan Program To Renew Early Vitality

Methodists are looking to 1963 to recover some of the denomination's early vitality, and emphasis on personal witness, discipline, and evangelism.

Nationwide and in congregations of the Southern California-Arizona Conference 1963 will be Aldersgate Year, a name taken from an event in the life of John Wesley. Wesley's experience changed his life, and the course of the Methodist movement.

Now, 225 years later, the church again is calling for deeper, more meaningful experiences in the lives of persons and local churches. Plans to achieve this will differ from church to church, but underlying all efforts will be the desire to seek a new life in Christ and the church, and to effectively communicate it.

QUIZ MODERN Methodists about what happened to John Wesley at Aldersgate, and how Methodism thereafter influenced life in England and America and many would flunk.

But, predicts Bishop Gerald Kennedy, of Los Angeles, "by New Year's Day, 1964, Aldersgate will be in the vocabulary of every church-going Methodist in America. We hope and trust it will become an outward symbol of a heart-stirring experience within."

Bishop Kennedy is chairman of a 13-member committee of the Council of Bishops working on observances and special programs in conjunction with the National Council on Evangelism, headed by Dr. Kermit Long, Central Methodist Church, Phoenix, Ariz.

HISTORICALLY, Aldersgate was a turning point. Methodism was founded in the late 1720s as a student club at Oxford University. But it never threw off any sparks until John Wesley, a don at Oxford's Lincoln College and Church of England clergymen, visited a club meeting on Aldersgate Street, London, and felt his heart "strangely warmed." In his Journal he wrote, "I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation. And an assurance was given me, that he had taken away my sins, even mine and saved me from the law of sin and death."

Commenting on what Aldersgate can mean to Methodism in 1963, Dr. Long said recently:

"OURS IS the opportunity and challenge of experiencing a spiritual awakening. Far too long we have over-emphasized the telling of stories about the historical Jesus to the neglect of the Christ of faith. We have lectured, preached, and exhorted about systems of ethics and morality to the neglect of waiting before God until we could receive the power by which we could live the good life.

"Our accent has been on our work and our doing. It is easier to do something than to be somebody. Our over-crowded schedules within the church might well be keeping us from facing our real spiritual poverty. Our large budgets and our large and growing buildings filled with bustling activity could well be the beginning of a fatal fever instead of a sign of spiritual health and vitality."

Solos, including "Ghost Riders in the Sky" and "This is My Country," by Greg Loren; color films depicting America's natural beauty found at Yosemite, Washington, D.C., and Carmel; stereo background music; and Cosgrove's narration, will combine to refresh the viewer's insight to America's heritage.

"Birth of a Waterfall," filmed and edited by Joshua Meador, director at Walt Disney studios, will trace the development of a drop of water to a roaring waterfall.
