Twin Mothers To See Hat Fashions

"Bonnet That Bloom in the Spring" will be the theme for the South Bay Mothers of Twins Club's luncheon and hat fashion show to be held at 12 noon, Saturday, Jan. 19, at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church in Redondo Beach.

Narrating the show will be Mrs. Vera Lockyer, formerly hat designer and couturier of Kent, England, and now with the Paris Hat Fashions in South Bay Shopping Center. The models, all members of Mothers of Twins Club, will be Mmes. Gordon Anderson, Ronald Eisman, Gordon Garrett, James Huserau, William Seamon and Ron Strawn.

Mrs. Lockyer, commenting on the show, says: "Spring of 1963 will find more of our smart women than ever before wearing the season's newest hat fashions. Southern California is no longer a millinery wasteland. We are proud to feature exact replicas of original Paris creations at nominal prices. Many of our 'cover-up-quick' hat fashions are a boon to busy mothers and career women who have little or no time for elaborate hair styles."

Mrs. Lockyer will also demonstrate to the group exactly how to place a hat on the head so as to create the best image. "We take it for granted that we know how to place a hat on our heads, but almost every woman needs to be shown how to wear her hats to best complement her." Types of hats appropriate for every occasion will be modeled, including the "basic" hat for each season.

Proceeds from the luncheon and hat fashion show will go to support the club's needy adopted family, says Mrs. Richard Cassell, chairman of the event. Further, add Mrs. Cassell, "We are delighted to give a lovely new Easter bonnet to some lucky woman attending the luncheon, in addition to several unique door prizes."

President Mrs. Glenn Smith announces that the regular January business meeting will be a coffee-and-dessert, to be held at the home of Mrs. Cassell in Hollywood Riviera on Jan. 21.

Any interested mother of twins or triplets is invited to attend and may phone Mrs. Ronald Eisman of Torrance for further information.

YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

'You'll Miss the Annoyance ...'

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a father who is ready to tear the remaining hairs out of my head. How can I get my 16-year-old to stop wearing my clothes. You are probably thinking all sons like to wear their dad's clothes, but it's not my son I'm writing about—it's my daughter. Shirts, sweaters, socks—everything seems to wind up on her back. Of course nothing fits, but then she says it's not supposed to. It's the style now to wear everything four sizes too big. The teenagers today buy the largest size they can find—except when it comes to jeans and saddle pants. Then they buy the smallest.

When I asked my wife where my hunting jacket was last night she said "Judy wore it to a hay ride."

Is there a solution or am I doomed for life?

—DADDYKINS

Dear Daddykins: Not for life—just until she gets married. And then guess what—you'll miss the annoyance.

Dear Ann Landers: My hobby is repairing hi-fi and radios. It is fun for me and I also manage to make a little extra money on the side. My workshop was a cozy area off the kitchen. It used to be a butler's pantry, but my wife never used it.

Last week she suddenly decided my "junk" would have to go into the basement because it didn't look nice right next to her kitchen. Without even discussing it with me she moved everything downstairs. Now she has her sewing machine in there and the room is messier than ever. Her patterns, dummies and bolts of material are all over the place.

The basement is damp and uncomfortable. The climatic conditions are not good for delicate electronic equipment. I would like your advice—in print if you please.

—DISPLACE PERSON

Dear Person: I know nothing about climatic conditions and electronic equipment, but I do know something about emotional climate and marriage.

Your wife had no right to summarily move your equipment to the basement. Move your stuff back upstairs immediately and make clear you
