ALVIN C. MORGAN
 New Manager

Morgan Promoted

Alvin C. Morgan, who joined the National Supply Division, Armeo Steel Corporation in 1951, has been named manager of the company's store in Santa Maria. Previously National Supply operated a sub-store at Santa Maria under the jurisdiction of the Ventura store.

Morgan's first job was as warehouseman with the local branch of National Supply. He has been assistant store manager here since 1961.

Brake Lights Help Prevent Collisions

Next time you take your car out of the garage, try this test before you open the garage door. Step on the brake pedal and look for a brake light reflection.

Light working? "If not, you're robbing yourself of an important protection," said California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden.

The tendency of many drivers to follow too closely means that you are particularly vulnerable. A rapid stop or sudden slowdown without the informative flash of brake lights leaves you helpless.

"The car behind you can't stop in time, and you can't get out of the way. The result is a rear-end collision, and possible injury.

"The hazards increase during winter months, when weather conditions often result in reduced visibility and slick road surfaces.

"Make sure your brake lights are in good operating condition, and don't forget to check head lamps and tail lights, too," he said.

State History Chronicled in Course at HC

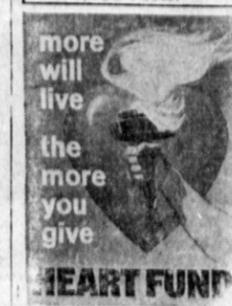

The social, intellectual, and political development of California from the early settlement to the present will be reviewed in a California history course to be taught in the evening division of Harbor College during the spring semester.

Pamela Bleich, one of the college librarians, will instruct the class which will meet from 6 to 8 p.m. on Mondays. Miss Bleich has done graduate work in California history at USC where she received her master's degree.

The course surveys the general history and literature of California. It begins with California's discovery and exploration, and includes the periods of settlement, Mexican rule, American immigration and the Mexican War.

This course is accredited by UCLA and Long Beach State. Further information is available at the college admissions office. Last date to apply for a permit to register is today.
