

Youths Audition for Battle of the Bands

More than 1,000 teenage musicians will undergo the first audition at El Camino College today at 6 p.m., to attend the Battle of the Bands finals scheduled for June 28 at the Hollywood Bowl.

Sponsored by the Los Angeles County Department of Parks and Recreation, the Battle of the Bands features competition in five categories: dance bands, school dance bands, combos, vocal soloists and vocal groups. Over 1,000 youths between 13 and 20 years of age returned entry applications before the Jan. 15 deadline date. Four auditions are scheduled before the Hollywood Bowl appearance. In addition to the El Camino competition, there will be an audition Feb. 2, Valley College, Van Nuys; Feb. 19, Mt. San Antonio College, Walnut; and Feb. 23, at Compton College, Compton.

Last year some 10,000 people attended the finals competition at the Hollywood Bowl, which was also carried by local television.

The contestants, who play jazz, swing, and dixieland music, have been judged by Johnny Green, Elmer Bernstein, Stan Kenton, Andre Previn, and a score of other noted artists.

CAMPER TOPPLES... William Burkhardt, foreground, of 18815 Hawthorne Ave., escaped injury and possible death Monday afternoon when a camper on which he was working toppled from the one-ton truck, left. A Torrance police motorcycle officer diverted traffic from one lane of Hawthorne Avenue while the camper was pulled onto the street and into a field about a half block away. The truck and camper was parked besides Burkhardt's trailer home. (Herald Photo)

Garden Checklist

1. Bedding plants should be set out for spring. These include the various perennials, as well as most annuals.
2. Protect emerging sweet peas from marauding birds by placing chicken wire over the young plants.
3. Plant bare-root shade and fruit trees now.
4. Try flowering quince for an early show of spring in your garden. Plant them now.
5. Give roses a clean-up spraying after you prune them. Be sure to follow the label directions for spraying in winter.

CD Meeting Set Monday

The Torrance Civil Defense Commission will meet Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Torrance City Hall Council Chambers. The commission requests that all groups or organizations planning on civil defense programs contact the commission so that Medical Self Help classes can be scheduled throughout the city. The meeting will be open to the public.
