

RIVIERA LONG AGO . . . A Riviera Homeowners' Assn. at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Parkway School will feature a discussion on "Real Estate in the Riviera" by realtors, William Armont, James B. Wood and John D. Haidinger. A motion picture of the Riviera section as it looked 35 years ago will also be shown.

Realtors To Assist Red Cross

"Realtors for Red Cross" is the slogan adopted by an enterprising group of Torrance and Lomita realtors who will kick off a special fund campaign among the 800 members of the Torrance-Lomita Board of Realtors on Monday.

"Even though this is generally a busy time of year for real estate agents and salesmen, this group has agreed to find time for personal calls among their friends in the business," declared Mrs. Rose Craig, who has planned the campaign.

All of these people are new to Red Cross, she added, "but they are sold on the idea of giving full support to this organization which is responsible for so many benefits for Torrance and Lomita residents."

Campaign kits have been issued along with instructions by Bill Brugger, acting executive secretary of the Torrance-Lomita board of realtors, who is coordinating the realtor's special appeal.

Those to begin their campaigning Monday include Lou Gayet, Joe Gandolph, Mildred Patterson, Lou Smith, Edna Binder, Mary Toombs, Irene Visco, Milton Rolunson, Saul Levine, and Harry Moritz.

I overheard a young woman the other night, and I couldn't tell whether she was bragging or moaning.

She said to her companion, "I belong to the Den Mothers, the Welcome Wagoners, the Wednesday Club, the University Club, the Women's Golf Club, the PTA, the Bowling League, the Political Forum, and a few other odds and ends of clubdom."

From my listening in on her conversation, I gathered she apparently had a husband and three children, too. It seems in this country that once you American women get joined in matrimony you get the joining bug and go at it with a vengeance.

I have observed that you really are not doing this group work out of the goodness of your heart but because it is a status symbol.

It does backfire though. The more of a joiner a woman is obviously the fewer brains she has, and as a result she can't think herself out of all the dirty work—which is another word for committee serving.

Eventually, your personal appearance begins to suffer, your disposition gets equally as bad and every unnecessary organization gets your free service, but the man who is paying the bills gets less than his share of your original worth.

If you husband were to ask you to devote just about one third of the time on a pet project of his that you spend running around from one clubhouse to another you would burst into loud cries of anguish and berate him for being such a beast.

But for strangers you find time. Now, I ask you, is that fair?

There are only two organizations that any woman under 50 should concern herself with other than church, and that's husband and home. There are enough things to do in them to keep you occupied and out of trouble.

You young moderns join clubs to impress others. Forget it. If you impress him, that's enough happiness for any woman. This is so because I say it.

Clubs are fine for women whose children are grown and off somewhere in the world on their own. She then has time to fill, less work to do at home, and so if the husband permits it she may then go out and join perhaps one club.
