Tip Given On Income Tax Form

R. A. Riddell, director of internal revenue for Los Angeles, has cautioned wage earners who have more than one employer to be sure to include income from all sources on their federal income tax returns.

Riddell said household workers in particular often work for a number of employers, either on a regular schedule of one or more days a week, or on an irregular basis.

In addition to reporting income from all such employment, household workers should be sure that any employer paying them $50 or more in any calendar quarter reports the wages and pays both the employer and employee portion of the social security monthly Social Security Service. These payments provide monthly Social Security payments and other benefits to workers qualifying.

COVERED ARE persons working as maids, laundresses, cooks, housekeepers, gardeners, janitors, furnacemen, governesses, valets, chauffeurs, etc.

Director Riddell reminded household employers that these taxes must be reported on Form 942 which is required to be filed by the end of the month following the calendar quarter. That is, by April 30, July 31, Oct. 31, and Jan. 31, as required. Failure to do so results in an accumulated tax liability and can lead to interest and penalty charges, he warned.

Riddell said Forms 942 can be obtained from any Internal Revenue office and that his staff would be happy to answer any questions with respect to application of this tax. The requirements also are set forth in detailed, easy to understand language in Internal Revenue Circular H, "Household Employer's Social Security Tax Guide," which is available on request.

Accountants Offer Help To Employers

The recently chartered Southwest Los Angeles chapter of the National Assn. of Accountants announces an employment service for employers.

This employment service is part of a nation-wide service maintained by the NAA through its national headquarters and more than 180 chapters located in principal industrial centers and other areas.

It is conducted for the benefit of members of the NAA with the object of supplying to employers the best available talent in the field of industrial accounting. There is no charge for this service to either employer or employee.

The NAA is devoted to the study of all problems related to industrial accounting and its membership numbering over 50,000 is not restricted. Accordingly, the employment files contain the records of men experienced in all fields of accounting and management activity.

Any employer in need of accounting personnel is invited to use this service by writing or telephoning to Edwin A. Bowen, director of employment, P. O. Box 931, Hawthorne, Calif.

Will Receive Certificate

Douglas Cameron, 18522 Wilton Place, will receive his certificate as a journeyman at a banquet to be held at the Los Angeles Home Furnishings Mart Saturday at 7 p.m.

This is the sixth annual ceremony sponsored by the Southern California carpet, lionelium and soft tile crafts joint apprenticeship and training committee.

Indiana Alumni Plan Reunion

Indiana University alumni from here and the Los Angeles area have been invited to a reception, at 6:30 p.m., and dinner, 7:30, at the Hollywood Plaza Hotel, 1637 N. Vine St., March 18.

Speaker will be Charles E. Harrell, registrar of the Hoosier State University.
