YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

'Need to Know How To Talk Horse Talk'

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know if this is the kind of a problem I should be bothering you with but I am only 12 years old and I don't have much love life yet to speak of.

Well, to get to the point, I am crazy about horses. After many years of begging, my folks are finally buying me a horse in September. Now I need to know how to talk horse talk. I've got to get hold of a horse dictionary right away so I will be able to use words like gelding, filly, stud, withers, stallion and yearling.

Please tell me where I can get such a dictionary. I want to start studying now so I won't be ignorant in the horse/circles.

—NO HORSE SENSE YET
Dear N.H.S. Yet: I know of no horse dictionary and furthermore, even if I did I wouldn't recommend it.

The best way to learn "horse talk" is by being around people who talk it. That's the way THEY learned.

family. Try to be soft-spoken, and above all, let him know you love him.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I invested $10,000 in a small business. For my $10,000 I own 20%. My partners are four men who are not related to me, but they are all related to each other.

The payroll looks like their family roll call. Before I sat down to write this letter I checked and this is the way it reads: A sister-in-law, two brothers-in-law, a son, two daughters, an uncle, three nieces, and a nephew.

The business is doing well, but I have the feeling it would do better if we got rid of some of the relatives. It was recently decided that two of the relatives will be sent to Europe at company expense to "look at items we might buy."

The trip is a phony and I'm burned up about it. What can I do about this boondoggle?

—HOT UNDER THE COLLAR

Dear Collar: Sell your 20% and remove yourself from the list of ulcer candidates. What you make on the investment cannot compensate for what you stand to lose.

Confidential to NOT OBLIGATED BY LAW: There is no statute of limitations on a guilty conscience. Pay the man. Surely your reputation is worth a few hundred dollars.

Confidential to THE GO BOY FROM PERTH AMBOY: So what good are her dimensions if she has a computer instead of a heart? What you describe is a terrific construction job without a central heating system.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
