dropping so much as a comma. I received such a letter today and here it is.
Dear Ann Landers: This is not a letter asking for help. There is no help for me and I know it. My letter is a simple plea to the parents of teenagers to please consider what their excessive drinking does to their children.

My father is an alcoholic. If he only knew how many times he has made me ashamed he is my father. If he only knew the times my girl friends have come over and seen him dead drunk—and how I shudder when boys come to take me out and I must rush to meet them on the front steps so they won't get inside the house.

I hate to come home because I never know what I will find here. My father is downstairs now, sick as a dog, but tomorrow night he will go out and do the same thing again.

I beg of parents, please stop hurting us kids. I USED TO LOVE HIM

Dear Friend: There is help for you—if you will reach out for it. Children of alcoholics have found comfort, useful information and guidance through Al-Ateen. Write to The Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., Post Office Box No. 182, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife has a 24-year-old brother who is getting to be a real pain in the neck.

When we first moved to this apartment my wife made the mistake of giving Hymie a key. When I asked her why she did it she said, "Because he asked for it." This sounded like a pretty reasonable reason at the time. Now I'm not so sure. Several nights a week when we come home from work, there is Hymie—sitting in my chair smoking my cigars and drinking my bourbon. He never brings anything over here except his thirst and appetite—and sometimes a friend or two.

Is there a tactful way of getting the key back? We've really had it.

—LANCASTER, PENN.
Dear Lan: Change the lock on the doors. Tell Hymie you are doing it as an extra precaution against "invaders."

If he asks for a key to the lock, you can either tell him "no" or prepare to put up with the moocher, probably for the rest of his life—and yours.

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDERS' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcements to engagement to "who pays for what?"). To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (C) -363. Publishers Newspaper Syndicate.

Clothing Sale Slated By Twin Mothers Club

Back to school buying won't be a burden on the budget for South Bay Mothers of Twins as they plan to help clothe their doubles with purchases from the club exchange table, Monday, Sept. 16, at the Torrance YWCA.

According to Mrs. Guy Lucas, Torrance, chairman of the sale, the exchange table enables mothers to sell their twins' outgrown clothing and toys and in turn they may buy clothes from members of older twin families.

The mothers set the prices themselves and often enjoy friendly bartering with one another. The bi-annual exchange table provides the answer for the cluttered closets and crowded garages holding outgrown items.

In addition to buying and selling, Mrs. Andy Meier, president, San Pedro, will conduct a short meeting, outlining the Twin Club's fall schedule. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to group games, coffee, cookies, and no doubt more exchanging.

This meeting is an opportunity for brand new mothers of twins to build their babies layettes and the South Bay Mothers of Twins Club invites them to attend and become acquainted with the "old hands." For information, Mrs. Alden Edwards, Redondo Beach, may be called.

Teenager Course In Charm at Y

Several new courses for teenage girls are currently being offered by the Torrance YWCA.

Girls from 12 to 14 years old may enroll in a charm class to be offered Friday afternoons. A pep class, offered Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8 p.m. with Mrs. Peggy Shiner instructing, will include skills of baton, flag twirling and cheer leading.

A new club for teenage weight watchers will cover activities, speakers, exercise for figure control and posture. The club will meet on Wednesdays.

Sisterhood Will Serve Breakfast

Southwest Temple Beth Torah will serve a bagel and lox family breakfast this morning from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m., according to Mrs. Irving Kooba and her co-captain, Mrs. Jay Rothstein. Sunday school also opens today and children will be served prior to going in for classes.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Irving Kooba, Norman Grossman, Tema Garland Warner Harris, Davis Harris, Rupert Adler, Ralph Fisher, Emanuel Doshay, Phil Goodman, Alfred Fink, Harold Dropkin, Irving Cohen.

Also, Mmes. Irving Smuckler, Rae Panster, Irving Benpamin, Jack Cordova, Herman Cohen, Phillip Pansky, Elmer Shufler, Benjamin Turetsky, Leo Gans and Al Cosman.

Delegates At National Convention

Mrs. Richard Keenan, president of the Gardena Emblem Club 257 and Mrs. Max Ziegler, financial secretary, are in Boston, Mass., attending the national convention.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Marvin Knapp, first vice president, conducted the Sept. 5 meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Fazio, birthday chairman, honored 18 members with gifts and refreshments, served at decorated tables.

The indoctrination meeting for new candidates is set for Sept. 27 at the Elks hall at 7:30 p.m. A pot luck dinner has been planned for Thursday evening, Sept. 19, at 6:30 p.m. at the Elks hall, 1735 W. 162nd St.

Next regular meeting of the Gardena Emblem Club is set for Oct. 3.

Yom Kippur Dance Slated For Sept. 28
