

White Cane Day Sales Set By Lions Club Next Week

Appeals for funds to aid the blind will be made on the weekend of Oct. 4-5 by members of the Torrance Lions Club as members conduct their annual White Cane Day sales. Chairman Del Wright, who will supervise the sales of lapel-sized white canes in the fund-raising project, said members of the club would put aside business and jobs to collect funds during the two-day event. Lions will wear special insignia, and will station themselves throughout the city's business areas.

Funds raised through the annual sale of white canes and through other club projects have enabled Lions to provide the sightless and those with sight handicaps with special glasses, Braille training and writing machines, seeing-eye dog, clinics, and other assistance.

The local club has been active in providing aid to students of the city's schools with sight care, and have contributed several valuable machines and instruments to Torrance Memorial Hospital to facilitate the treatment of eye problems.

"Whenever blindness strikes, help is surely needed," Wright said.

Schools Need Help at Noon

Persons wishing part-time employment are being sought by the Torrance Unified School District to relieve teachers during the noon hours by supervising students on the playground, in outside eating areas, and in the cafeterias.

School officials reported this week that successful applicants will be hired at the rate of $2 an hour.

Persons seeking such jobs must be high school graduates, U.S. citizens, in good health with physical agility, and not more than 66 years of age by July, 1964.

Applications for such employment should be made directly to the principal of the elementary or high school in the area of the applicant's residence, officials said.

... Police

A SPECIAL meeting of the commission was called last night to consider the ordinance.

A special meeting of the commission had been called for 5:30 p.m. Tuesday to consider the ordinance before the council meeting, but had to be canceled because a quorum could not be present.

The ordinance will be back on the council agenda next week.

The ordinance was sent to the Civil Service Commission when City Attorney Stanley Remelmeier ruled that under the City Charter, the commission must "consider" the proposed changes.

After the matters had been disposed of, Sciarrotta read a prepared statement to the council in which he said some persons had accused the council of not using powers it has to right the situation in the police department.

Sciarrotta said these people were "alarmists," and went on to add, "It takes experts, people in the business, to uncover anything which might be out of order."

Sciarrotta asserted the council "did the wise thing by bringing in the experts."

Tartar Teen Talk

By Pat Adams

Our 1963 football season, which premiered in the new THS Stadium last Friday night, proved that the Tartar team will live up to our great expectations. Even though the game ended in a 6-5 deadlock, we have resolved that the next time we'll do better than just getting our feet wet when he try to sink those Redondo Sea Hawks!

The enthusiasm of the cheering crowd was extended into a Fifth Quarter Rally, sponsored by the Student Council, after the game. Music by the Coachmen, a campus group, got things under way and relieved the tension of the tight struggle for victory on the football field.

Coach Kasten announced the "Player of the Week," who was right tackle Sonny Yanes, and presented him a trophy. This practice, initiated this year by the Student Council, serves to render credit where credit is due. A cheer for Sonny and the crew was led by the cheerleaders. The rally was a tremendous success and proved to be one of the largest after-game crowds in THS history.

TURNING FOR a moment from the muscular set on campus to the female department... Let's look at fashions for fall. What's the good word? It's plural color! We see a lot of cranberry and pink (quite patriotic to the near-shade maroon), and green is to be seen with everything. Jumpers are in—creating what the fashion world calls the layered look.

A half-inch colored ribbon does up a nice little package when used as a headband, finished with a bow, introducing the young Alice-in-Wonderland style. Textured nylons with various patterns and colors seem to be catching on quickly. They're wild, but it seems that the English have had the idea for years...

Simplicity still reigns as queen over the THS fashion world.

AN INFORMAL surprise birthday party was held for our AFS student, Hymie Luboff, last Tuesday at his new home with the Waterman's. We hope it will be one he'll always remember... he's one person THS will never forget.

The juniors are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their class rings... the sure sign of an upperclassman. Ideas for the traditional prom will be forthcoming soon. September is the time to begin planning if the prom is to be as successful as the one presented last year by the Class of '64.

NO LONGER will the student body be plagued with requests for admission fees at Student Council sponsored activities. If the students have purchased an Associated Student Body Card, they will be admitted free. This new offer includes varied entertainment to suit even the most discriminating and difficult to please.

With so many new-deserving items floating around school, a publicity manager's work (especially homework) is never done. So until next week... bonjour mon ami.

Employment Service Chief

Heads Back-to-School Plea

"The high school dropout is condemning himself to years of unemployment," according to Murray Love, manager of the California State Employment Service.

Love announced an all-out effort by his agency to persuade local youth to return to school so that they will acquire the training to make them employable. Television and sports stars have been enlisted in the anti-dropout campaign, he said. Filmed TV messages featuring Mickey Mantle, George Maharis, Merv Griffin, and Johnny Nash will be shown frequently as a public service on five Los Angeles channels during the remainder of September.

"For many years an education was necessary to get a GOOD job," Love said, "but now it is needed to get almost ANY job. The unskilled workers in our area are competing desperately among themselves for the few jobs open to persons without training."

"The student who is not academically inclined should seek apprenticeship, trade school, or on-the-job training in a 'demand' occupation," Love continued, "but a high school diploma is usually a minimum requirement to enter into apprenticeship. A college degree is becoming increasingly necessary for an entry-level white collar job." Youth counseling and information on 'demand' occupations is available in any office of the State Employment Service," he explained.

Love summed up the job outlook for youth in these words: "In today's labor market, survival depends on skill acquired through education and training."
