

Students Win USC Awards

Students from two colleges in the area and a high school have been cited for excellence in writing for their school papers by the University of Southern California School of Journalism.

They are Van Barbieri of Harbor College who received honorable mention for a sports story; Tom Mead of El Camino for an editorial, and John Junesu of Torrance, honorable mention for a sports story.

whoop," was judged the best two-year college newspaper in the area. It also won the award in 1961.

The awards highlighted a recent day-long program of discussions and clinics on problems of student and professional journalists. Outstanding members of the newspaper and communications fields in the Los Angeles area participated. Approximately 1,000 students attended.

Blood Drive Contest Set By Students

El Camino College will enter intercollegiate competition in a Blood Drive Contest with East Los Angeles Junior College Monday.

The schools are competing to see which college can donate the most blood to the Red Cross during their annual one-day drive.

EVERY PERSON who is between the ages of 21 and 60 and weighs at least 110 pounds may contribute blood, health permitting.

"I hope that the intercollegiate competition will help us to enhance our supply and give us more blood," Ron Johnston, student commissioner of health, education, and welfare, noted.

JOHNSTON, a resident of Hermosa Beach, added, "We are urging all students who possibly can to participate in the Bloodmobile program because a donation of blood from one person assures him of being able to receive blood for himself or any member of his family."

A record number of reservations for contributing blood has been made in preliminary registration.

Candidates Asked To Speak Monday

Riviera Home Owners Assn. will meet Monday, April 1, at 8 p.m. at the Parkway School. All school board candidates have been invited to speak to the group.

College is Cheaper Than JFK Conservation Corps, Republican Aid Reports

"It would cost less to send a boy to college than it would to put him into the Kennedy's youth conservation corps," I Lee Potter, special assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee, said in San Pedro Friday at a dinner honoring local Republican candidates in the 1962 elections.

Ted Bruinsma, defeated 17th Congressional District candidate, was singled out for special praise. Other honorees included assembly contestants Al Thorsen and Richard Wonder. The fund-raising dinner-dance was under the supervision of Charles Soderstrom, chairman of the 17th Congressional District.

POTTER SAID Kennedy administration aids have "scuttled their own make-work plans for American youths. Testimony of Kennedy men in the Department of Interior and Agriculture placed the cost of the Youth Conservation Corps at a minimum of $7,171 per man per year," he said.

"It costs only $2,775 a year to send a boy to an Ivy League college, including tuition, books, room and board, medical expenses, laundry — even spending money," Potter declared.

"The Kennedys aren't proposing a conservation program — it is a waste program," he said.

"FURTHERMORE, this plan of the Kennedys would send young men into the back woods to learn to swing an axe. The skills they learn will have little application to the space age, so the Kennedys are committing these young men to a bleak future among the hard-core unemployed.

"Republicans have proposed solutions to the problem of youth unemployment," Potter declared. "Our legislators propose to amend the Republican-sponsored Manpower Retraining Act to admit more youths and expand and revise vocational training."

"EDUCATION is the real need of the nation's 700,000 unemployed youths," Potter declared. "Education would permanently solve their problems, and equip them to be useful citizens."

"Teaching them to swing an axe, on the other hand, has become outdated. But the Kennedys wouldn't know that — they're still obsessed with cure-all schemes of the 1930s."

Optimists To Elect New Slate

Nomination and election of officers for the coming year has been scheduled by the Optimist Club of Torrance at its Monday evening meeting at the Palms.

A nominating committee report submitted by Past President Forrest W. Meyers Monday recommended the slate headed by Ernest Dandoy, president; Cliff Trezise, vice president; Roy Zhe, second vice president; and E. V. Winkelbauer, secretary-treasurer.

Others nominated by the committee include board members Irwin Kasten, Lee Wilson, Don McCalman, and Len Peterson. Outgoing president Roland Petrat will be a member of the new board.

Serving with Meyers on the nominating committee were two past presidents, Clyde Anderson and Clifford Graybehl.

ECC Directs Secretarial Symposium

Leaders of local industry visited El Camino College Campus yesterday to participate in the secretarial symposium conducted under the direction of W. W. Weber, assistant director of instruction, division of applied arts and sciences.

Topics discussed by the panel members included standards of employment, job opportunities, personal qualifications and the importance of accepting responsibility and using good judgment on the job.

Following the panel discussion, students participated in a question and answer period.
