

Pre-Easter Breakfast Set at YM

"Who Cares About Religion?" will be the topic of the Rev. Charles Hughes of the Western Avenue Baptist Church when he speaks Saturday at a Torrance Family pre-Easter breakfast.

The 7:30 breakfast will be the second of two pre-Easter events. At the last breakfast, the Rev. Dwaine Cerbin of the Burbank First Christian Church spoke on Science and Religion. Rev. Cerbin predicted that the time may come when the rapid technology of science would make life so complex that man would plead for activities which would not demand overindulgence of the scientifically trained mind.

Members of the Dior's Tri-Hi-Y Club of South High School cooked breakfast which was served by the Debonnaires Tri-Hi-Y Club of North High School.

Six cases of measles, two of hepatitis, and one of mumps were reported to the Los Angeles County Health Department for the Torrance area during the week ending March 23.

Measles Head List

Dr. Ellen Erchul, sociology professor at Harbor College, has just returned from a convention in Sacramento on the topic of juvenile delinquency. Dr. Erchul discussed the reasons, "Why Kids Go Wrong", in her workshop.

College Choir To Appear at Local Church

Pastor William D. Smith announces that the choir from the Western Apostolic Bible College in Stockton, will be in Torrance Sunday night, at the First Pentecostal Church, 2147 W. 237th St.

The entire evening service will be under the direction of Rev. Kenneth Haney, choir director and co-pastor of the First Pentecostal Church in Stockton.

The Bible College choir tours the state once a year during the Easter season. Many have been blessed through their ministry in song. In addition to the choir selections, there will be featured duets, trios and quartets in special arrangements.

Mike's Thursday Mailbag—
Dear Sir: Why is cute Carol Lynley getting a divorce, just when she's off to such a great start as the star of two big movies, "Under the Yum-Yum Tree" and "The Cardinal"?—Al Kenatader, Burlington, Mass.

protest on behalf of Miss Hayley Mills. In a recent column, you referred to her as "little Hayley Mills." May I suggest you take another look at the amazing Miss Mills? She is extremely attractive; she is, in my opinion, the most beautiful girl in the world; and this month she will be 17, an age at which she will not appreciate being called little.—Gilbert Gosseyne, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Al: Carol refuses to discuss it but her estranged husband, Mike Seisman, says she's convinced she can't be a "big glamor star like Liz Taylor" unless she's single. Meanwhile, she has changed all the locks in her house to keep Mike out.

Dear Gilbert: I have the same trouble with Hayley that I have with Liz Taylor and Natalie Wood. Having met them all when they were child actresses, I still think of them that way. Shoot if you must this old grey head but never let 'em age, as Peter Pan said.

Dear Mike: What new TV shows and personalities may we expect on next season's TV series? And has Andy Williams been dropped?—Martha Shoemaker, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Mike: My girl friend swears she saw Raymond Burr here in New York but I read where he's been very ill. Did she see him or his double?—Gertrude Schwarz, New York City.

Dear Martha: Imogene Coca will have a new series called "Grindl." Others starring in their own weekly shows will be Judy Garland, Danny Kaye, Phil Silvers, Jack Palance, Dick Boone and George C. Scott. And Andy will be back with 12 specials, one a month, and all, he says, bigger than ever.

Dear Gertrude: Your friend was right because Ray visited the Big City following his surgery. He has completely recovered and all those other rumors are false.

Sir: Where you got the information about Sybil Burton seems doubtful. My London source quotes Sybil as follows: "I am not divorcing Richard. The whole matter is ridiculous. Richard and I understand each other perfectly. There is no trouble between us." Why not let the whole matter rest?—A.L.H., Pasadena, Calif.

Dear Bubble Buster: Why does Dean Martin always get such glamorous leading ladies? He's getting so old—how does he rate?—Mary Ann Herzoff, College Park, Ga.

Dear A.L.H.: I would love to but Liz won't let Richard rest.

Dear Mary Ann: Dean always turns in a fine professional performance and everybody has a ball when he's on the set. Have you ever seen him in a public performance? If so, you would know they've never captured the REAL Dino on film. Don't knock him—he'll be around a long time.

Dear Mr. Connolly: I'm writing this letter as an unofficial

CCD Plans Exceptional Child Meet

Mrs. Agnes Bowen of Nativity Parish, will be one of the featured speakers at the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine (CCD) Institute scheduled Saturday and Sunday at Junipero Serra School, 14830 S. Van Ness Blvd., Gardena. Several hundred workers from the Southwest area parishes are expected to attend.

Dear Mike: A very good friend of mine has been looking for years for the song that John Lund sang to Olivia de Havilland in the movie, "To Each His Own." Others say it is the title of the movie. I don't think so. I hope you know.—Janice Gatto, Oakland, Calif.

Programmed for the exceptional child, Saturday's session will include: "Is There a Need for a Special Program for the Retarded Child?" by Sister M. John, CCD supervisor; "Design for Spiritual Living," by the Rev. Donald Rooney, U.S. Naval chaplain; "Taking a Practical Look at Our Retarded Children," by Lester Foster, principal of Columbia School; and "Teaching Religion Through Crafts and Song," Mrs. Lola Hanlon.

Dear Janice: The others are right. Any music store could fill you in but my motto is Service with a Smile.

Sunday's program will feature "Learning from Our Teachers," presented by Mmes. Glemma Borash, Kathleen Chamberlain and Agnes Bowen; "Teaching with Simplicity," Miss Ardis Heniger; "Helping Parents through the Holy Innocents Guild," by Sister M. John, SHF.

Come out with it, man—is Dinah Shore going to marry tennis pro Maurice Smith or isn't she?—Emily Higgins, North Key Largo, Fla.

Firm Boosts Local Agent

Larry Adams of 811 W. 209th St. has been appointed sales representative for the Allstate Insurance Companies. C. J. Weiss, assistant vice president and general manager, stated that Adams has completed an intensive, professional training course at the companies' zone training center in Menlo Park, and has been licensed by the state. He will work from the Allstate sales office in the Sears store at 22100 Hawthorne Ave., Torrance. Adams will also represent the Allstate Motor Club and Allstate Safety Crusade, a country-wide campaign carried on by the companies and their agents to assist officials in reducing traffic accidents.

Dear Emily: The lady says NO. But they play beautiful tennis together.

Dear Mike: Will Peter O'Toole be showing up in person, for the Academy Awards? If so, what will he do about the dark hair and beard he has grown for his new play in London? Won't it be a shock to all of us who've seen him in "Lawrence of Arabia" as a blonde?—Jill Stevens, Jersey City, N.J.

Dear Jill: Knowing the crazy Irishman personally, I wouldn't be surprised if he showed up in a fright wig.
