'Parents Having This Problem, Too'

Dear Ann Landers: I am getting very close to 12 years old so I consider myself almost a teenager.

What do you think about freedom of speech for us? I don't mean sassing adults. I mean just talking back to parents when we don't happen to agree with them.

Don't you think kids ought to have their say when an argument comes up? Or do you think they should just sit there and not answer back with anything just because the other person happens to have lived on this earth about 28 years longer?

Please give us an answer right away because a lot of us kids are having this problem lately.—BUGGED

Dear Bugged: Thanks for writing. A lot of parents are having this problem, too.

In order to answer properly, I'd have to know what you consider "answering back" and how it is different from "sassing?"

Kids should be allowed to present their side of the story, but having presented it they should accept the decision of "that person who just happens to have lived on the earth about 28 years longer."

Dear Ann Landers: I take violent exception to the advice you gave the landlady who complained because two working girls entertained male company in their apartment anywhere from 2:00 a.m. to 7:00 a.m.

You said, "As long as the tenants pay their rent, keep the property in good condition and refrain from disturbing the neighbors the landlady has no right to complain about their morals."

I have news for you. The landlady HAS a right to complain if the tenants are turning her property into a brothel.

I've rented apartments for a long time and I try to be careful. But it's impossible to judge the people by looking at them. I've had neighbors who go on hunting and fishing trips at dawn, tell me they see men sneaking out of my apartment house at 4:00 and 5:00 a.m. Of course I give these girls notice but too often I get the same kind in their place.

You don't help any by telling these budding Cleopatras it's OK so long as they don't disturb the neighbors. Thanks for nothing.—E. C. W.

Dear E. C. W.: No landlady should permit her apartment house to be turned into a brothel. And it requires no genius to figure out that girls who have a steady stream of male visitors at odd hours are not likely to be entertaining socially.

My advice pertained to working girls. They should (Continued on Page 10)

EASTER OF 1963 . . . This morning the Christian World commemorates the Resurrection of Jesus Christ on that first Easter morning over 2,000 years ago. From the pulpits of every Christian church the story of the Resurrection, Christ's greatest miracle, will be recounted. These Torrance children, Gregg Reed, 6, Judy Flynn 11, Susan

Chaffey 7 and Karen Chaffey 8, will be among the many attending services at the Ascension Lutheran Church. They will hear the gospel read by the Rev. Lloyd Warneke, pastor, followed by a sermon and special Easter music by the choir. (Herald Photo)

Janet Bullard Becomes Bride of James Pulliam

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bullard, 22516 Normandie, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Janet Louise, and James Lee Pulliam, which was solemnized on March 9 in a 7 o'clock ceremony at the First Christian Church. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Pulliam, 1734 Elm, are parents of the bridegroom.

Mr. Bullard escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. She wore a ballerina-length white lace gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, round neckline, long pointed sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her illusion veil fell from a pearl crown and she carried two white orchids encircled by white carnations.

Mrs. Carolyn Gower served as her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Misses Gwen Barlow, Mona Wilson and Darlene Meeker. All of the attendants wore emerald green brocade and each carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Bob Pulliam served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Don Bullard, Harry Sippel, Dale Cochran and Bill Saine.

The Rev. H. M. Sippel, pastor, officiated at the marriage. Mrs. Eleanor Hanes, organist, played the wedding marches and accompanied Betty Lou Kautto, soloist.

The 250 guests attended a reception in the church hall. Miss Nancy Foster registered the guests and Misses Karen Bartholomew and Carol Steinback were in charge of the gift table.

Following a honeymoon in Palm Springs, the newly-married couple are at home at 26019 Oak St., Apt. 3, Lomita.

The bride was graduated from Torrance High School in 1962 and recently completed a course at the Flavio Beauty College.

Mr. Pulliam, a 1961 graduate of Torrance High, is a carpenter apprentice with the Guy Atkinson Co.

A Joyous Easter

But on the first day of the week at early dawn, they came to the tomb, taking the spices that they had prepared, and they found the stone rolled back from the tomb. But on entering they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus. And it came to pass, while they were wondering what to make of this, that, behold two men stood by them in dazzling raiment. And when the women were struck with fear and bowed their faces to the ground, they said to them, "Why do you seek the living one among the dead? He is not here, but has risen. Remember how he spoke to you while he was yet in Galilee, saying that the Son of Man must be betrayed into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and on the third day rise". (Luke, Chapter 24)
