Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Part of the endearing young charm of a baby is his (or her) helplessness. (Makes matter of noise. Regular household sounds won't jar your baby, asleep or awake. Learning to live in a world of normal noise is an adjustment he must eventually make and the earlier he becomes accustomed to these noises the better. P.S. Naturally, loud jarring noises, like door slams, etc. should be avoided.)

babies favor. For baby's nutritional well-being, they're enriched with iron, calcium, B-vitamins.

Why force the issue? Babies rarely overeat except when pushed by an over-zealous mother... and when so pushed often develop a dislike for a food that may be hard to overcome. By the same token, babies who are left to eat, not made to eat, rarely undereat. May be hard to believe but babies do seem to know their own needs.

Nutrition additions. As baby advances toward a full food schedule, variety becomes important, not only from the standpoint of good eating habits but to give baby the many different nutrients he needs. Gerber offers a flavorful assortment of strained foods. Over 50 choices, including fruits, vegetables, meats, dinners, juices, egg yolks and desserts to meet all your baby's nutritive needs. Gerber Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

Dietary variety date. Good eating habits are formed early... and introduction of variety at an early age lays the foundation for future good eating habits. Easy way to introduce your darling to the delights of different cereal flavors (usually baby's first solid food):

Gerber Cereal Sixes. This handy sextette contains small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Barley, Mixed Cereal, High Protein Cereal and two Oatmeal. Each has its own blend but distinctive flavor... all have the dreamy, creamy texture
