Torrance Eighth Grader Wins Bank Essay Award

Eight-year-old Lucy Fitzpatrick, 4904 Emerald St., has won top honors in an American essay contest sponsored by Pacific State Bank.

The bank held the event to celebrate its eighth anniversary. The contest was open only to children eight years of age who completed the sentence, "I am proud to be an American because..."

Lucy's award-winning completion was: "... of five good reasons. First, America is a free country. Second, our country had great leaders and still has them. Third, all men are created equal. Congress has many precious documents. Fourth, America is one nation under God, and fifth, it's the most beautiful country in the world."

FOR HER efforts, Lucy received a $50 U. S. Savings Bond. It was presented to her by Keith Pischel, manager of the bank's Torrance office, in ceremonies held at the bank building. Lucy won over scores of young people from various Centinella Valley communities. Second and third place winners were both from Hawthorne.

Judges of the contest were three mayors, Albert Isen of Torrance, Raymond Creal of Hawthorne, and Raymond Slaney of Rolling Hills Estates. Entries were judged on originality, legibility, and organization.

A GIANT COMES TO PENINSULA CENTER

Trust a giant to thoroughly investigate the lay of the land before making its move. That's what California Federal, the giant of the nation's federal savings associations, did before establishing a permanent Palos Verdes Peninsula office. Now there's proof that the giant liked what it saw here. This fall, California Federal will move across the street from its temporary office in Peninsula Center to its new, million dollar, 3 story office building. This will be the giant's permanent peninsula home. It will also provide rental space for other businesses.

Here are the facts that convinced the giant that the Peninsula climate is a good business climate. Peninsula growth rate is 4 times Los Angeles County's. Personal incomes are far above national averages. California Federal home loans in the area have increased every year—last year loans in force totalled nearly $12,000,000.

The giant knows the Palos Verdes area is one of Southern California's best areas for business. It is also convinced the Peninsula Center is the best place to do business on the Peninsula.
