MAN JAILED AS BANK ROBBER

A Penny for your Thoughts

"What do you feel is the hardest thing for parents to understand about children?" the Pennies inquirer asked.

Mrs. David DaBov, Redondo Beach:

"I think the biggest puzzle is why they are so defiant and keep doing things over and over when they know they shouldn't be, especially when they are as young as mine, 19 months. Of course mine is so young I don't understand anything about him."

Mrs. Robert Atkins, 22513 Iris:

"I guess the way they behave. The way their mind reacts and some of the things they do. My experience is with my three children which are between the ages of three and six."

Mrs. Harry Hathaway, 21226 Kent Ave.:

"I think that many parents do not understand that children are people and often forget they are humans who have feelings and don't like to be embarrassed. Parents always strive for their children to be good people."

Mrs. Jack Horner, 3711 W. 224th St.:

"I don't think they are hard to understand but we let ourselves get so overtired that we are impatient with them. I don't think we have any problem if you are calm yourself."

Mrs. H. D. Marsh, 2410 W. 178th St.:

"I can't understand why they are so lazy. This is particularly true with boys. This is the biggest puzzle with me, trying to get them to do something."

Chamber Banquet In June

Announcement of plans for the Torrance Chamber of Commerce annual banquet was made this week by Chairman Ted Green at a meeting held at the chamber offices.

The 1963 dinner will be held June 22 at the Pen and Quill Restaurant, Sepulveda Boulevard at Rosecrans Avenue.

This year's celebration will center around three principal events, the Citizen of the Year award, the Architectural Merit Awards and the installation of officers and directors of the chamber.

The Citizen of the Year award, an annual recognition by the chamber to a person who has made an outstanding contribution to the community, will be made by Martin M. Denn, chamber president. The name of the person to be honored will not be revealed until the award is made at the dinner.

THE Architectural Merit Awards, presented for the first time last year, will be presented to firms and organizations in the city that have constructed outstanding buildings during the past year. Contending for the awards will be architecturally prominent commercial, industrial and public structures.

To be installed at the banquet will be the new officers for 1963-64, including the president, first vice president, second vice president and treasurer, five new directors and eight area directors.

Detectives said all three reported they found the plants, recognized them as marijuana, began to water and cultivate them for a three-to six-week period.

THE ARREST was made about 8 p.m. in the rear of the American Standard Co., 360 Crenshaw Blvd., between Del Amo and Dominguez Street.

Detectives Leo Gonzales and Roger Jacobson concealed themselves in clumps of shrubs at the location and eventually observed the three young men approach the area planted with about 1,000 marijuana plants.

WHILE MORENO took a container and began to sprinkle a patch of marijuana the detectives said they saw Rivera and Azevedo walk over to another marijuana patch and begin cultivating it. After observing the three for several minutes, the detectives placed them under arrest.

During a search of the suspects, a rolled up piece of newspaper containing a quantity of green leafy substance resembling marijuana was found in Moreno's pocket, detectives said.

Not Every Girl Can Say: 'Daddy is Dean of Women'

A college dean of women became a father recently! James J. Gualtieri, coordinator of student activities at El Camino College, was selected to "man" the job of Miss Henrietta Martin, dean of women at El Camino, when she took sabbatical leave this spring.

For the moment, Gualtieri is forsaking tea with the associated women students and the challenge of directing college fashion shows.

He is a busy man taking flowers to his wife, Joyce, and announcing the birth of his daughter, Leah Rose, at South Bay Hospital in Redondo.

Before daddy was a dean, Mrs. Gualtieri, past president of the faculty wives, presented him with a son, Tony, now 19 months.

A public hearing on dairy operations within the city has been scheduled before the City Council beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday. ## Dairy Showdown Due Before City Council

A public hearing which could lead to the closing of the city's last nine dairies has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday before the City Council.

Under consideration by the City Council will be recommendations of the Planning Commission that all operations which include the keeping of cows within the city be abated no later than Jan. 1, 1964. Present deadline is July 1 unless extended.

Involved in the move are nine dairies and a total of approximately 1,000 cows.

TUESDAY'S HEARING before the City Council will follow a series of hearings before the Planning Commission which began last December.

"I don't know what the Council will do, but it is time we took a firm stand on the matter of dairies," Mayor Albert Isen said yesterday.

Dairies listed during the Planning Commission hearings include Sunny Crest at 3929 Spencer; Quinn's at 4016 Del Amo Blvd.; Roger Jessup at 3480 Del Amo Blvd.; Emerald Glen at 1286 W. 166th St.; Hudson at 17010 Arlington; Verburg, 2093 W. Artesia Blvd.; Rosebud at 18158 Crenshaw; Cream O' Farms at 16701 Cherry St.; and Palos Verdes View at 22845 Hawthorne Ave.

"If keeping of the cows is abated at this time, the owners arbitrarily lose their investment," he said. He asked that owners be permitted to amortize the useful life of the property involved, indicating that the Council's 7½-year notice was insufficient.

EMERALD GLEN Dairy has asked for extension only until Nov. 19, 1963 and Sunny Crest until October, 1963. Each has indicated it plans to cease operations on those dates.

The Roger Jessup Dairy has been abandoned and should be abated without an extension, Planning Commission said.

Opposition to the early closing of the dairy operations has been voiced by dairy representatives.

ATTORNEY George E. Atkinson Jr., representing several of the dairies, told members of the Planning Commission during the March 20 hearing that the dairy problem would solve itself for financial reasons. He challenged the city's decision to split the dairy operations into three parts—keeping of herds, processing and wholesale handling of milk, and retail sales operations.

"If keeping of the cows is abated at this time, the owners arbitrarily lose their investment," he said. He asked that owners be permitted to amortize the useful life of the property involved, indicating that the Council's 7½-year notice was insufficient.

Smith Named President Of Jaycees

Deputy's Gun Taken At Bank Holdup

An auto license number noted by a sheriff's deputy who had been disarmed during a bank robbery led to the arrest of a Torrance man as the suspected robber here Friday evening. Frank H. Blum, 33, of 1425 Deloras, was traced through license numbers supplied by Deputy Thomas Tucker, 29, who had stopped in at the Security-First National Bank branch at 171st Street and Hawthorne Avenue to cash his paycheck.

HE APPARENTLY entered the bank just behind the bandit, and was disarmed after he got inside the building, Tucker said. He said the bandit stepped from behind a display sign in the bank, shoved a gun against his ribs, and warned, "I know how to use it."

Branch manager Joseph P. Sims, 64, had been forced to fill a large paper bag with money which the bandit took from the bank along with Tucker's gun.

THE DEPUTY raced from the bank after the bandit, grabbed a shotgun from his patrol car, and chased the fleeing suspect down an alley. He did not fire at the man, however, because of pedestrians nearby, he said.

Tucker and other witnesses noted the license number and description of the auto in which the bandit fled.

The FBI and sheriff's office traced the car to Blum and officers raced to the Deloras Street home but found no one there.

AGENTS WERE talking to Blum's wife, Irma, 34, at a Redondo Beach bank where she was employed when Blum entered. Hermosa and Redondo Beach police joined agents in making the arrest of the suspect. He was jailed at Lennox Sheriff's Station.

Officers said they found Tucker's revolver, another gun, and $2,600 in a paper bag in the saddlebags of the motorcycle Blum was riding when he arrived at the Redondo Beach bank.

News of Switch Greeted

New hope for establishment of the proposed South Bay College in Torrance was raised this week with the announcement that Fox Hills Golf Course was being dropped from consideration as a site.

Making the announcement was Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, state college chancellor, who said he and Chairman Charles Luckman of the site selection committee concluded the construction at the Fox Hills site "has proved to be financially impracticable despite the best efforts of the college system and the landowners."

THE ANNOUNCEMENT Friday followed more than two months of investigation into the "college city" plan put forward for the Fox Hills site. It had been proposed that the college facilities be constructed on 100 acres of land and that an adjacent 100 acres be developed privately for college-related facilities.

"It is impossible to achieve benefits for students comparable to those received where such facilities are built on state land with substantial federal financing," Dumke said.

THE CHANCELLOR said he and Luckman would ask the site selection committee to call a special meeting at the Westchester Elementary School for 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, June 5, to consider the dropping of Fox Hills.

"If the committee agrees with our conclusion, a self-executing resolution which the committee formerly passed would go into effect," he said.

The resolution listed Fox Hills as the first choice subject to feasibility, and listed a site at Hawthorne Boulevard and Crest Road on the Palos Verdes.
