

Work Progresses On ECC Magazine

Work on Warrior Life, El Camino College campus magazine, is progressing rapidly, editor Frank Sweeney announces.

Sweeney, a resident of Torrance, succeeds past editors Ron Hagen, Inglewood, and Dick Davin, Manhattan Beach. Hagen is now layout editor while Davin handles advertising.

This semester's staff has extensive experience in journalism, both on Warrior Life and the campus newspaper, Warhoop.

Warrior Life is in its third semester of operation.

COORDINATING editor is Eric Williams, Inglewood, a third semester student on Warrior Life. Williams' job is to see that pictures, copy and layouts are effectively coordinated. He also is the chief trouble-shooter in seeing that deadlines are met.

Assuming the duties of checking for typographical and technical errors is Kelly Cannon, Manhattan Beach, now in her second semester on the magazine.

Assisting her is Jim Braden, Manhattan Beach, present editor-in-chief of the Warhoop.

Hagen, presently commissioner of publications, is in charge of the general appearance of the magazine.

Veterans of the staff serving as writers include Tim Forsyth, Torrance, who handles features; Rich Needles, Inglewood, also a feature specialist; and Mike Morrow, Inglewood, a sports writer who also is serving as manager of El Camino's press bureau program.

NEWCOMERS to the writing staff are Dennis Fee of Gardena and Mrs. Bernice Miller, Redondo.

Photographers, under the leadership of Danny Bearden of Inglewood are Gary Durfur, Inglewood; Loren Harvey, Torrance; Jess Amado, Torrance; Paula Christiansen, Manhattan Beach; and Ray Duerloo, Torrance.

Warrior Life recently received a first-class award from the Associated Collegiate Press for work on the spring, 1963, edition.
