JC Expands Radio, Television Program

Expansion of El Camino College's radio and television instruction program is planned for the fall semester with the addition of a second full-time instructor in the department, according to Dr. Lyle Tussing, director of instruction.

In addition to William W. Wyllie, who has been teaching radio and television maintenance and repair during the past year, Karl H. Stello will serve as instructor beginning in September.

Terminal Being Considered

Possibility of exploring the use of a proposed finger pier, which would be erected off the apex of Rainbow Pier (Long Beach) as a terminal for the ships that go to Catalina Island, is being considered by the Catalina Island committee.

Such a project would include filling in of at least a portion of Rainbow Pier Lagoon for a parking lot. This would be used by 300,000 tourists who would drive to Long Beach to board the Catalina ships.

and television and FM theory, operation, and servicing.

Other courses in the program, aimed to provide a well-rounded background for all fields of work, include algebra, trigonometry, slide rule, English, psychology, speech, history, shop management and leadership, and political science.

High school courses in chemistry, physics, and two years of algebra are recommended for students entering the program, but deficiencies may be made up by enrolling in classes offered at El Camino College.

During World War II Wyllie served as communications officer in the merchant marine. Before and after the war he spent a number of years as a sound technician in the motion picture industry. Mr. Stello, who will join the college staff in September, also has an outstanding background in radio, television, and electronics.

Registration for the fall semester will be held September 11, 12, and 13, and classes will begin September 14. The bulletin of information now available at the College gives full information concerning courses to be offered.
