Teacher Wins 'Queen' Title

The selflessness of an Inglewood grade school teacher who thought only of her little charges, won the "Queen For a Day" title for Mrs. Thomas (Reba) Raw, 56, of 4307 West 102nd street, on station KHJ, Thursday on a special "Schoolteacher Queen" show.

When asked what her one wish would be if elected by her peers in the audience at the Don-Lee-KHJ studios, she stated she wanted some musical instrument for six-year old Loretta Lewis, of Lennox. The child is reportedly slowly going blind, and it is hoped that she may be able to learn some instrument before that occurs. Meanwhile, she is undergoing treatment in the faint hope of correcting the trouble.

The unfortunate tyke will get an accordion, complete with instructions in its use. And for her noble gesture the "Queen" received many other fabulous gifts, including several complete outfits of clothing, a complete beauty treatment, wrist watch, furniture, a food freezer, a sewing machine and cabinet, a vacuum cleaner, an electric roaster, a toaster, a radio, a dozen pair of nylon hose, foodstuffs and cigarettes from the sponsors of the program (Old Gold and Kraft), plus other gifts.

Part of her Cinderella whirl included a day and night on-the-town in Hollywood, visiting famous places, nightclubs and restaurants, and including attendance at a Hollywood premiere. For the event she was furnished a car with liveried chauffeur for herself and a companion.

Pastor to Discuss "Where Is Hell?"
 "What and Where Is Hell?" is the topic that will open the eighth week at the "Back-to-the-Bible" campaign's second series of lectures here next Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Services are conducted by Roger W. Coon, local clergyman, and Gerald R. Hardy, youth minister of song.

The regular Sunday evening meetings are held each week in the Hawthorne Masonic Temple auditorium, Broadway at Greville street.

On Tuesday, April 3, Hardy will speak on the topic, "Does God's Grace Annul His Law?" April 6, Pastor Coon will answer the question "Is God Particular?" in a lecture illustrated on the screen.

The Tuesday and Friday evening services are held in the Adventist church auditorium, 131 Menlo avenue. Tomorrow evening's lecture will take up "The Lord's Day in the New Testament."

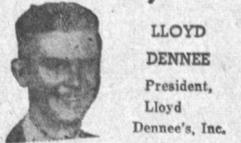

Church Women to Meet

The Centinela Valley Council of Church Women will hold its March meeting at the chapel of Peace Lutheran church, 1009 North Market street tomorrow. The program will commence promptly at 10:45 a.m. The speaker for the day is Daniel H. Poysti who for many years has been a missionary behind the iron curtain and in the Slavic countries.
