Editor, Torrance Press:
Do you believe in signs? Don't answer that because I'm much too angry to listen. To make a long story short, there are too many different kinds of traffic signals.

Just as I begin to get used to one kind and relax a little bit, there's a traffic signal of one kind or another in front of me I barely have time between signals to step on the brakes.

Methodists will Print Bulletin

The Torrance Methodist Men's Club planned a variety of activities at its last meeting, a week ago Wednesday. Under the direction of Jim Felts, local advertising and idea man, plans for a printed church bulletin were pushed through.

Suggestions were also made for a chorus during the Christmas period.

Car Accident Injures Girl

Mrs. Josie Ornelas, 18, 2257 W. 235th St., was injured yesterday afternoon when her auto ramed into a car parked along Border Ave., north of Torrance Blvd.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Watkins on Nov. 17. The child, Robert Lewis, has two sisters, Mary Lou, 4, and Charlotte, 2.

Oil Sump Dispute Discussed

Torrance's City Council last night didn't run as smoothly as might be expected.

During the question and answer period which the Council calls "oral" communications, three residents from Pacific Hills, adjoining Walteria, were present, and they wanted some answers.

"Why was the oil sump opened after you gentlemen voted to close it if it was not licensed?" asked Vern Crumm, 3344 Winlock Road.

Mayor Bob Haggard thought he had an answer to this one. "Originally, we did say we would close it," said Haggard, "but we changed our minds at a future Council meeting."

Crumm: "You also voted to fence the dump. Isn't there an ordinance to that effect?"

City Clerk Bartlett had the answer to this one. "I'll say we did," he declared. "If Sande K. Semmes doesn't fence it, his license will be revoked. There's no argument about that."

Crumm: "Is anyone familiar with the zoning of this area?" Haggard: "I don't believe it was zoned."

It later was discovered that the property is zoned for light agriculture.

Crumm: "Would you like to have a dump in your backyard, Mayor?"

Ed Karlow: "The City Council has no authority."

City Attorney James Hall told the group of three men that he would be happy to meet with them if they were interested in taking any civil action on the numerous problems they outlined.

Lutherans Plan Vesper Service

First Lutheran Church, Pastor Paul Wenske, will celebrate Holy Communion at two services Sunday, December 9, at the 10:45 morning worship and again at a special vesper service at 6:30. The speaker for the vesper service will be Pastor Carl Odell, one of the teachers of the Lutheran Bible Institute of Los Angeles. Pastor Odell is an outstanding speaker and will have an interesting and worthwhile message to present.

Worker Killed On House Tract

Killed Monday in Torrance while working at a housing project was Lloyd Alvis Robison, 58, of 13902 S. Pelton St., Paramount. Robison was crushed beneath a trailer loaded with water pipe, police reported.

Investigators said that Robison was standing on the tongue connecting the trailer and truck. The carrier was moving at less than five miles per hour as workers dropped pipe along Elwood St., south of Sepulveda St. Robison apparently slipped from his perch and the left front wheel of the trailer rolled over him.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Torrance Hospital. The body has been removed to the Stone & Myers Mortuary here where an inquest and funeral arrangements are pending. His death was listed as the eighth traffic fatality this year.
