Vic Chatten

Torrance Chapter of the American Red Cross, Ernest Dixon, regional director of Civil Defense for the state, also attended the trial of the device.
COMPLETE COVERAGE
Chatten disclosed that he could install three of his sirens, atop each Torrance fire station, with guaranteed coverage, for less than $2000. The city has been considering sirens which will cost $30,000. These costly sirens failed to do the job in a test held recently in Los Angeles.

If Torrance installs the system it will be the first city in the nation to use the method.
The "multiple mortar" air raid warning device is the latest of many inventions by Chatten, whose beach cleaning machine is widely used.
Chatten reported that he is slated to stage another demonstration of the warning system before federal agents at Berkeley sometime this week.
