Dominguez Rezoning Battle On

Future development of the 20,000-acre Dominguez-Keystone multi-million dollar industrial area will be planned scientifically by the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, beginning with a hearing in Los Angeles held last Monday, it was announced.

The 30 square miles known as the Dominguez-Keystone section extends from Compton southerly to Lomita Blvd. and lies between Long Beach Blvd. and approxi-

Two thousand child pedestrians will be injured in Los Angeles County during the next three months unless motorists and parents join forces in an all-out drive to prevent vacation tragedies, the Automobile Club of Southern California warned today.

ately Normandie ave. It encompasses some of the largest oil refineries and other industrial plants in south Los Angeles county.

Most of the area in question is now in the M-3 unlimited zone, permitting either industrial or residential construction. Practically all parties to the zoning movement are seeking a more restricted zoning.
