Jack is one of the Alter Realty "specialists," concentrating his talents and efforts on making dreams come true for people by finding homes and sites for homes in Palos Verdes and Hollywood

Riviera. Like any really good salesman he is so thoroughly sold on his project that he and his helpmate, the former Mary Frances Greaves (whose father, incidentally, is a realtor, too), have bought a choice piece in Hollywood Riviera where they mentally build, raise, then build again, with added improvements, their dream home for themselves and their 7½-month-old son.

Jack was born and went to school in the metropolis of western Michigan, Grand Rapids. Michigan abounds in lakes, rivers and rugged mountain areas where, as a young boy, Jack learned to fish and hunt. In fact, it was quite impressive to climb around on the rocks and fish on the Tahquamenon River, near St. Ignace, then read about the lake in school while studying Longfellow's Hiawatha.

Before a 3½-year stint overseas where he served as an officer in the 322nd Bomb Group working as an Assistant Engineering Officer, in the Tech Supply, Air-Sea Rescue and in five or six other areas that seem to fade into the past, Jack went to Compton Junior College, later doing graduate work. Columbia-Geneva Steel was grooming him for a position as a metallurgist. He worked here as a Junior Metallurgist (I believe this was the title of his position) both before going overseas and after his discharge. But the "roaming" around in England, France, Germany, etc. did something. Itchy feet. The desire to be his own "boss" was mostly responsible for Jack's choosing the real estate business. That, plus the fact that he likes people, this is a "must," of course.

Jack belongs to the National, State and local real estate associations and serves as a committeeman on the Legislative Committee of the Torrance-Lomita Realty Board. And if you want to see some hillside property, Jack's office is at 1436 Marcelina ave., Torrance!
