Tuffy, Nat'l Tire Symbol, Makes Good

Tuffy, the Armstrong Rubber Company's animated rhino endowed with superhuman characteristics, was not a spur-of-the-moment creation. He was the result of extensive searching for a visual symbol of ruggedness and durability that would strike home, at a glance, the idea of toughness and strength—essential qualities built into Armstrong tires.

Choose Name
The next step was a name for the new trade-mark. Rather than deciding among a few, a contest was held to give the rhino a name and the creation of "Tuffy" was completed. The magnetic quality of Tuffy has been recognized by advertising experts as well as the general public. The American Legion magazine selected Armstrong's as an outstanding trade-mark to illustrate the article, "Symbols That Sell" and Printers Ink chose a Tuffy national ad to show how effective illustrations that are warm, animated and expressive add interest.

Tuffy can be most proud, however, of being singled out for instruction and reference purposes. The authoritative Encyclopedia

From the Idaho Statesman: After Governor Baldridge watched the Lion perform, he was taken to Main Street and fed 25 pounds of raw meat in front of the Fox Theater.

Fixit Shop Ready to Fix Anything

Sharpening, welding, steel fabrication, brazing, arc welding, and all sorts of appliance repairs—these are some of the services offered by the new Fixit Shop located at Newton and Hawthorne.

Fred Holst, who opened the shop last week, described it as a community repair shop which makes lower prices possible.

Holst was superintendent of three major fisheries in the local area previous to this. He also served three years with the Seabees in the South Pacific.

Holst states that his shop is centrally located, especially con-

Paul's Chevrolet announced that substantial discounts are available on 1953 Chevrolets that are company owned and exclusive cars that have very little mileage.

Paul Loranger, owner, stated that this offer is limited for this week-end only and will be on a first come, first served basis. For further details see advertisement appearing on Page 9.

venient for the new Ellingswood development, Walteria, and Palos Verdes.

He lives in Torrance-Walteria with his wife and two daughters.

Strum's Wish Comes True...

Oscar Strum, of Strum's Department Store, not only sold 500 tickets in a Buick give-away contest to raise funds for one of the local temples, but a wish of his that one of his ticket-holders would receive the Buick came true.

The lucky recipient of the car was D. C. Carter of 1804 W. 148th St., Gardena.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

From a Jefferson City Mo., paper: Columbia, Tenn., which calls itself the largest outdoor mule market in the world, held a mule parade yesterday headed by the governor.

Coop School Kids Enjoy New Term

The Torrance Cooperative Nursery School opened its doors to new school term on Monday, Sept. 14.

The returning veterans were joined by several new children and all were happy to find a good supply of clay, dough, painting supplies, bibs, tricycles and miscellaneous toys.

Much joy was brought to the little ones by a new phonograph recently purchased by the school. The kids had their usual juice and cracker break followed by a rest period which is part of their daily routine.

The large play-room was painted and the outdoor playground equipment was installed by the fathers prior to opening school.

The group's new assistant director is Mrs. Evelyn Linehan. The membership chairman is Mrs. James Cahow, FA. 8-1638.

From a Long Island paper: For Sale—Large crystal vase by lady slightly cracked.
