Brooklyn Outfielder To Speak

Duke Snider, Brooklyn Dodger's ace outfielder, and one of the most outstanding stars of the recent world series, has been secured by Neal Rydick, Gardena city's sports director, to speak to the Little Coast league baseball boys and their parents, at the first annual dinner to be held by the organization in the Gardena Community Civic Center Building, 1651 Market St., Gardena at 5:30 p.m. today. Two Torrance teams coached by V. T. Vanderpool, were entered by the Torrance recreation department last summer. The dinner will be in the form of a bean feed, with beans, coffee, and drinks for the group being provided by the Gardena recreation department and mothers of the boys are to provide the trimmings, cookies and salads. All parents, who plan to attend are asked to phone the Gardena recreation department at Menlo 9-4123 as soon as possible so that they can know how many to prepare for, and also, what dish each mother is preparing to bring to the dinner.

To Get Priority
Development of a recreation area in the Seaside district will be given top priority, the City Council indicated following formal acceptance of a five-acre site in the area. The Council has agreed to meet with homeowners in the area to discuss the development. Construction of a community building has been asked.
