

Make Gifts For Hospital

Girl Scout Troop No. 1293, sponsored by Madrona P.T.A. will make gifts for the children's ward at the Los Angeles General Hospital. On December 20 when the group has its Christmas party it will carol in the Madrona neighborhood under the direction of its leaders, Mesdames E. Carl Osterlind and Elwood Stroman.

Scouts To Celebrate Two Events

The girls of Scout Troop No. 1006 which is sponsored by Howard Wood P.T.A. have a twofold celebration in December with Christmas and the troop's birthday coming up.

The traditional birthday cake will be the center of attention Wednesday, December 15.

After caroling in the Falena street area the girls will return to their meeting place at 23205 Falena, and conclude the party with a grab bag.

Mesdames P. M. Crossman and Dale Stanton are the leaders of the scouts.

JEWELRY OFFERS WIDE SELECTION FOR GIFTS

The Christmas shopping season is on... the stores and streets are bedecked with gay holiday decorations, and now while it is still early, is the time to find the best buys and the largest selections.

FLATTERING... to narrow face and long neck is the extravagant use of gold-ribbed Corolite bubbles and pearls in the pendant earrings and multi-stranded bib-necklace.

Jewelry for Gifts
For a wide price range the jewelry and cosmetic counters offer gifts from the tiniest price on up to three figures. The jewelry displays, however, are more tempting than ever this year. Color is played up more than ever before to tie in with the whole new colorful look of fashion.

Since the return of the "Chanel look," miles and miles of colorful ropes of beads are becoming ever more popular. These are particularly versatile, as they may be lengthened or shortened according to costume and the whim of the wearer. They may also be wound around the wrist for a chunky bracelet effect.

You can't go wrong on a good-looking bulky bracelet, or a grouping of the narrow gay-colored circles. With so many pushup sleeves, and styles that leave the lower arm and wrist exposed, bracelets are a "must" for so many of us whose wrists may be on the bony side.

Earrings present another gift possibility that will make a hit. Cascades, pendants, giant buttons, and huge discs of catalin, beads, simulated stones, pearls and gold and silver metal, will add bulk above the neckline to balance wide shoulder lines.

How To Select Right Style
When choosing earrings or necklaces, keep in mind the stature and appearance of the person who is to wear them. If your recipient is a very petite small-boned individual, don't make the mistake of giving her great bulky pieces that will give her a weighted down look... choose the more delicate pieces.

On the other hand, if you are buying for a tall person, look for the large dramatic jewelry... long pendant earrings, if you know she likes them... important necklaces that should be chunky, especially if her neck is long or her face narrow.

Sport Jewelry
Don't overlook cuff links and stick pins for the tailored lady. With the popularity of shirts, these are very acceptable jewelry gifts, and are being shown in so many original styles, they are fun to shop for.

If you know she likes tailored clothes, look for the unique in sport jewelry... plain, smart pieces of gold-colored metal or silver, trimmed perhaps with leather. Leather, incidentally, has attained a new place in the jewelry "spotlight."

Knowledge Of School Topic At Carson

Your School" was stressed at the November meeting of the Carson Street P.T.A., conducted by Mrs. Roy E. Carter, president.

Participating in the program were Mrs. Elda Curry, B-1 teacher; Mrs. Marie Clemons, teacher of A-1; Mrs. Virginia Skadden, fourth grade teacher; Mr. Harold Pfeiffer, B-6 instructor; and Mrs. Ethel Strong, B-3 teacher. Also participating in demonstrations on reading were pupils of the first, fourth and B-6 classes.

Mrs. Curry presented a large chart which had been prepared by Mrs. Strong for presentation to the parents. The chart was entitled "Our Responsibilities as Parents," and outlined eight points to aid the health and welfare of the children.

DUTIES OF CHAIRMEN OUTLINED

Duties of the chairmen were outlined at the monthly meeting of the Torrance-Madrona association of Girl Scout adults, which was held on Monday, November 22 at the Scout house at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Lee Stamps and Mrs. Harold Hayes were in charge of the group.

The duties of each of the chairmen were outlined by the following: Mrs. E. Carl Osterlind, finance; Mrs. A. A. Krauszer, membership nominating; Mrs. Foster Kelly, camp; and Mrs. P. M. Crossman, public relations.

An election will be held in January. The plan for the organization was voted upon and approved.

Mrs. Osterlind explained the methods of teaching songs to the girls and also taught tunes to the women.

Mrs. J. Kenneth Clutter, Brownie leader showed how to construct a pine needle doll and paper beads.

The next meeting will be held in January.

Appointment of Virginia M. Candler as a substitute clerk was approved by the Torrance Board of Education.

Anne M. Williams has been hired as a substitute teacher by the Torrance Unified School District.
