President W. J. Herrman, Frank Zangger, H. H. Pottle, Joe Parcels, C. H. Ray, and E. F. Hawkesworth. Herrman is a National Director of Junior Achievement, and Zangger and Parcels are officials of the local group.

Junior Achievement Group Tours Gas Co. Facilities

As a part of the local Junior Achievement program of business and economic training for youth, the Inglewood group recently toured the headquarters facilities of the Southern California Gas Co. at 810 So. Flower Street, Los Angeles.

On the tour were about a dozen of the Junior Achievers, headed by their president, Frank Zangger, a senior at Junipero Serra High School.

Junior Achievement is a national non-profit educational plan that puts young people into business for themselves. The local group, sponsored by the gas company, is organized under the title of "JayCorp" to produce tie clasps inset with insignias.

Achievement group is made up of high school students from throughout the Centinela Valley and adjoining territory who meet once a week to transact the business of their miniature company.

The group was escorted on its tour of the utility's headquarters by its three advisers, local Inglewood gas company people who meet with them one night a week to advise and oversee their practical business.

Working with Gas Company Division Manager E. F. Hawkesworth as advisers for the group are H. H. Pottle, C. E. Gray, and C. H. Ray.

On the tour, unit supervisors in the various departments pointed up how their work ties in with three over-all problems of modern business: costs of equipment, absenteeism and its effect on the department, and personnel training and its costs.

Miniature Corporations Through the Junior Achievement plan, youths from 15 to 21 years of age set up miniature corporations, decide on a product to manufacture, then raise money to run the company by selling stock at 50 cents a share. From that point the boys and girls perform every phase of the business operation.

Although the program has operated in many cities of the Nation for nearly 30 years, Achievement is relatively new in this area, having been introduced here to a great extent through the efforts of W. J. Herrman, Gas company vice president and a national director of Junior Achievement.

Admits Passing Bad Checks

Picked up for passing $800 worth of checks stolen from the Sand and Gravel company, Robert L. Stoker, 32, of Glendale pleaded guilty on three counts in Long Beach Superior Court.

Stoker, who will be sentenced May 20, claimed that two other men committed the burglary but that he wrote out and passed the checks, according to Det. Capt. Ernie Ashton.

Joe Doss and Jay Barrington represented the Torrance Kiwanis Club at the Interclub of Los Angeles County clubs held recently at the Biltmore Bowl.
