Evangelistic Crusade Into Final Week

Evangelist Pete Riggs, former professional gambler, enters the final phase of his scheduled 22-day united inter-denominational evangelistic crusade at Pacific Coast highway and Normandie avenue with the four most important meetings of the series starting tonight at 7:30.

The popular young evangelist speaks tonight on "Decision of Death." On Friday evening, his 7:30 subject will be his life's story, including his experiences in the air force during the second world war, culminating with his acceptance of Christian faith on the eve of the opening of a new plush gambling casino at Bloomington, Illinois, which he hoped would attract Chicago's gambling set.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, Ray Ton, popular ventriloquist will assist the evangelist and his party in a special "small fry" rally for pre-teen children which will also include a program featuring youthful local singers and musicians. On Saturday evening, the evangelist's 7:30 subject will be "How You Can Tell When You're in Love."

The final meeting of the crusade will be held Sunday, October 16, at 3 p.m., when Riggs promises to produce documentary evidence in exposing the "biggest crook in the harbor area." Reverend Herbert Ezell, Wilington pastor and chairman of the crusade, announced Wednesday that more than 350 "decisions" were recorded on the "sawdust trail" during the first two weeks of the crusade and that predictions are for a total of more than 500 acceptances of Christian faith by the close of the meeting.
